Place Our Trust in Him

Life has a way of pulling our attention toward immediate concerns, making it easy to lose sight of what matters most — our call to live for the Kingdom of Heaven. The stewardship way of life helps us keep our priorities in order, teaching us to live each day with eternity in view.

How do we remain focused on that eternal goal? St. Paul shares the secret in today's Second Reading from Philippians. He writes, "I know how to live in humble circumstances; I know also how to live with abundance." Whether he had plenty or very little, Paul's confidence remained the same because it rested in Christ rather than in his circumstances.

His secret is simple: "I can do all things in him who strengthens me." And he reminds us why that confidence is well placed: "My God will fully supply whatever you need, in accord with his glorious riches in Christ Jesus."

Living this way is not always easy. It requires trust, humility, and perseverance. But God never asks us to rely on our own strength. He provides everything we need to follow Him faithfully. Our task is simply to place our trust in Him each day.

October is traditionally dedicated to the Most Holy Rosary. As we meditate on the life of Christ alongside His Blessed Mother, we invite all parishioners to make time this month to pray the Rosary—at home with family, in small groups, or together in church (the Rosary is prayed before each daily Mass!).

"If you say the Holy Rosary every day, with a spirit of faith and love, Our Lady will make sure She leads you very far along her Son's path."
— St. Josemaría Escrivá

- Praying together and for each other -

Prayer is a beautiful way to share God's love with others, especially during times of great rejoicing and great struggle.

You are always welcome to have your name placed in our bulletin to allow your parish family and friends to pray with and for you.

There is another form of group prayer here at St. Joseph's - our Prayer Tree.

You are encouraged and welcomed to call the office to put anyone on our prayer tree.

You may use a first name or be anonymous.

These prayers go out to a strong group of "Pray-ers"....

Either through an email list or by a phone tree.

Ministry of the Sick

From the Desk of Father Justin

Welcome, one and all, to Week 2 of Respect Life Month. For the bulletin this week, I'd like to go into a little more depth, regarding the major point of last weekend's homily's story. The short version is that my grandfather had a deeply moving moment on the very last day of his life. I remain deeply grateful to this day that my grandfather's life was not cut short... not even by a matter of hours.

As you might imagine, I shared that story at Mass because it was my best one. However, it is not my only one. My other (and significantly older) grandfather had a great final day and an excellent death back in 2000. It would have been equally unjust for someone to cut his life short, in the name of pain management or some other excuse for the medical world to deviate from the Hippocratic Oath.

As I pondered this basic truth of the Pro-Life stance, it also became clear that this reason applies to other things beyond the literal end of a human life. As a general rule, there is virtue and goodness in letting things play out to their natural conclusion, in spite of the temptation to give up and preemptively walk away. When we walk away before making it to the ultimate end of something, it's almost always out of a sense of frustration, hopelessness, or the belief that it's just not worth any more trouble. However, the act is nevertheless about giving up and taking the easy way out. When we do that, we eliminate any possibility of being pleasantly surprised, and we cripple our ability to learn from the experience. Perhaps most vitally of all, we are left with a nagging voice in our heads, telling us that we didn't actually do our best nor make every attempt to find a possible solution. That voice, my dear brothers and sisters, is a powerful and haunting voice indeed. Please allow me two real-world examples.

I realized, around my junior year of college, that I was never going to be a real astrophysicist. I was not thriving in my physics classes like the others. As I discerned being a science teacher or something that demanded less academic excellence, I wrapped up my college education and got my degree through white-knuckled determination. I moved to Madison for a year, and in addition to my full-time job, I signed up for one grad-level class of astrophysics. Although I practically knew what would happen, I wanted to see that particular chapter of life through to the end. Who knows? Maybe something would click in my head, in a way that never happened at Beloit? In any event, I was totally lost and dropped out of the class as gracefully as possible about half-way through the semester. And I was able to walk away knowing that my life required me to walk in a different direction.

The second example is the more important one. Someone I knew was going through a divorce. It was a classic divorce case where one person was trying their best to save the marriage and the other was absolutely done. The person I knew went through every step of possible reconciliation, therapy, and mediation. Every chance to establish a proper arrangement for the kids was offered. They all failed to be upheld by the other party, with depressing predictability. And every time something new needed to be arranged, he'd give it a fair shake. One day, after over a year of this, he said something profound to me: "I need to do everything I can to be fair and find at least something that could be called a solution. I know there's a 95% chance that it's going to go the way of every other arrangement, but I need to be able to look at myself in the mirror and know that I never skipped a step, and never prematurely closed a door that might otherwise have been a way out. So when this whole thing is over, I can at least say to myself that there was absolutely no alternative, because I really did try everything."

That was a remarkably wise thing to hear, and it's stayed in my head ever since. The spirit of that argument is at work in the Pro-Life stance, with respect to end-of-life issues. There is virtue in seeing something to its authentic and true conclusion, and as a human life is deeply sacred, this reasoning applies to us most of all.

So let us all stay the course in life, and like Paul, let us run the race of our life in Christ. And may none of us give up on life... but run so as to win!

Peace,
Father Justin

Children's Wisconsin Guidelines

"To keep our kids safe from infection, all donated items must be new/unused (store-bought and in their original packaging) and cannot contain latex. All donations must be free from violent themes."

Please be advised of our Parish expectations regarding children at Mass:

If your kids are loud, please still come to Mass.

If you're running late because getting everyone dressed and out the door was a battle, please still come to Mass.

If your toddler won't sit still, please still come to Mass.

If your baby needs to eat, please still come to Mass.

If your child asks questions at the least convenient moment, please still come to Mass.

If someone cries, drops a toy, or has to make their third trip to the bathroom, please still come to Mass.

If your child doesn't know all the prayers, responses, or exactly when to sit, stand, and kneel, please still come to Mass.

If you feel like you spent the entire Mass managing your children and heard approximately 12% of the homily, please still come to Mass.

If Sunday morning feels messy instead of peaceful, please still come to Mass.

If you're worried your children are distracting the people around you, please still come to Mass.

If your child has a disability or special needs, please still come to Mass.

Children do not learn how to be part of the Church by staying home until they can sit quietly. They learn by being here.

They learn the Sign of the Cross by watching us make it.

They learn the prayers by hearing us pray them.

They learn the Scriptures by hearing the Word of God proclaimed.

They learn reverence by watching us kneel.

They learn that Jesus is truly present in the Eucharist by seeing the love and reverence with which we approach to receive Him.

They learn that the Church is their home because we make room for them here.

The wiggles, whispers, crying babies, and little voices are not signs that children don't belong at Mass. They are signs that the Church is alive.

So bring the babies. Bring the toddlers.

Bring the big kids. Sit in the front so the littles can see.

Step out when you need to... but always come back in.

At Baptism, these children became members of the Body of Christ. They belong here. They need the grace of the sacraments, the example of their parents, and the love and patience of their parish family. Children are not simply the future of the Catholic Church.

They are part of the Church right now!

MEN'S SILENT RETREAT

St. Joseph & St. Agnes Parish Men — You Are Invited!

February 25-28, 2027

Join us for a silent, preached retreat with a Jesuit Director at the Jesuit Retreat House on the shores of Lake Winnebago, just south of Oshkosh.

The main feature of this weekend is the SILENCE we keep—an opportunity for men who want to continue living a significant, examined life in a wonderful, quiet setting. Throughout the weekend, our Jesuit Director will lead us through the Spiritual Exercises of St. Ignatius with eight preached conferences. You'll have your own private room, great meals, and plenty of time to make the retreat your own—to pray, reflect, rest, walk the grounds, or meet privately with retreat staff. The weekend also includes Daily Mass, Reconciliation, an Anointing and Healing Service, Rosary, and Stations of the Cross.

Time away with God can challenge us to become better versions of ourselves—better husbands, fathers, parents, friends and workers. KNOW YOU ARE INVITED. Is this the year you finally take another step closer to the Lord?
