

LINCOLN CATHEDRAL FEBRUARY 2026

Once again the architecture group headed for the cathedral. I am sure if we went every month we would still not see it all. This time it was a tour about the sacred and the strange led by cathedral guide Simon Judge.

After a potted history of the building we had a fascinating walk around looking at how and by whom the stained glass windows had been made. He pointed out graffiti left by workers many years ago which without knowing about they we would never had seen. We learnt about the symbolism of the animal carvings such as the eagle lions and fish.

Any visit to our beautiful cathedral is a joy and again this did not disappoint.

Pam Simpson