ICG is a women and veteran-led small business specializing in the procurement, sourcing, and delivery of products and services for government and public-sector customers. ICG's sourcing and supply model applies to both products and services, enabling the company to coordinate qualified partners, personnel, materials, documentation, and execution support across consulting, public-sector programming, behavioral services, and procurement fulfillment requirements.

CORE CAPABILITIES

- Product and Service Sourcing & Procurement – Acquisition from qualified manufacturers and distributors.
- Contract Fulfillment – Execution of government purchase orders and contracts
- Supplier Coordination – Managing OEMs and authorized distributors
- Quality & Compliance – Traceability, certifications, and adherence to requirements
- Logistics & Delivery – Packaging, labeling, and shipping per government standards
- Documentation – Accurate recordkeeping and submissions labeling

EXECUTION APPROACH

- ICG serves as the accountable point of coordination across the contract lifecycle.
- We align partners, monitor requirements, maintain communication, and manage documentation through delivery, maintaining full traceability when appropriate.
- Our approach is designed to reduce execution gaps, strengthen accountability, and support client expectations.

RELEVANT EXPERIENCE

ICG's leadership brings relevant experience developed through years of work supporting service delivery and product procurement across military/government, public-sector, and corporate environments. This experience includes coordinating requirements, supporting acquisitions, managing processes, aligning stakeholders, maintaining documentation, and helping ensure work is carried through in accordance with operational and compliance expectations. This background shapes ICG's prime-led model and supports its ability to coordinate partners, manage execution, and provide accountable oversight throughout the contract lifecycle.
