To whom it may concern

Subject: Letter of recommendation

- Scope: Stahl cranes awarded the tender to install two new 30-ton overhead cranes and to refurbish another two existing overhead canes. Which has been done under tremendously difficult working conditions, the following factors having taken place.
  - The area has constantly been flooded, which made working conditions difficult.
  - The Brownfields project, where production interfered in daily planned activities off the MPP had to be managed accordingly, and effectively to get the job finalized.
  - Services from plant not always available as per scope documentation in regards to what Anglo needed to provide from a service level aspect.
Even under these conditions, Stahl has planned and executed their work with excellence. And as such finished the project with no incidents or accidents within the allocated time frames as per the baseline schedule

- The Level of professionalism:
  - Risk Assessments – done in a professional timeous manner
  - Attendance and participation in progress and safety meetings, were done in a professional manner and inputs given highly appreciated.
  - Daily documentation and safety stats / on par accurate, and always up to date.
  - Daily permits – Done diligently
  - Safety file always up to date and available for inspections.

- Technical Input: Stahl has performed beyond expectations in both the technical and practical fields. The expertise deployed was excellent and they have an excellent understanding of their product and implementation methods. Interfacing both with plant and managerial personnel and integrating new products with ease.

- Product: The overhead cranes that were installed were done excellently and the quality of goods supplied beyond compare. Stahl left a skeleton crew on a standby basis to ensure that there was assistance during breakdowns. An option defiantly commended to service quality.

- Project management and interaction with offsite personnel:
  - The project manager assigned to this project ( Paulette Tindle ) and her team were diligent, cooperative, and highly efficient. Information was always readily available, and discussions held with her made it a pleasure resolving requirements as and when they occurred. Thank you for all the effort and work done to make this project a success.

• Recommendation:

- We would defiantly use this team again to fulfil any upcoming ventures we have that may require their expertise.
- I would strongly recommend Stahl Cranes to any businesses requiring their services, in regard to all design, installation and commissioning aspects.
