BUILDING GREAT FUTURES

WORKFORCE CENTER UPDATE

We're just a couple months away from completing construction on our new Workforce Readiness Center and things are really coming together! The spaces are framed, drywall is going up, and the vision is quickly becoming a reality. We've been excited to have conversations with current supporters, potential donors, and program partners. The response has been overwhelmingly positive and the most common reaction? "Wow, this is going to be incredible for our kids and our community."

This fall, we've already started piloting some career exploration programs in partnership with leaders in STEM, Healthcare, and Financial Literacy. Over 100 of our members have participated and we're just getting started!

As we move closer to the finish line, we're still working hard to raise program awareness and the remaining funds needed to bring this project to life. We would love your help in spreading the word and sharing our mission for this impactful opportunity for kids.

TEEN WORKFORCE BUILDING TOUR

Teens recently toured the Workforce Center job site for the first time. They asked great questions about the building process and learned about upcoming career exploration programming designed just for them! Of course, many expressed interest in using tools like power drills and 3D printers. It was great to hear about the careers they're considering and how the new building can support their goals.

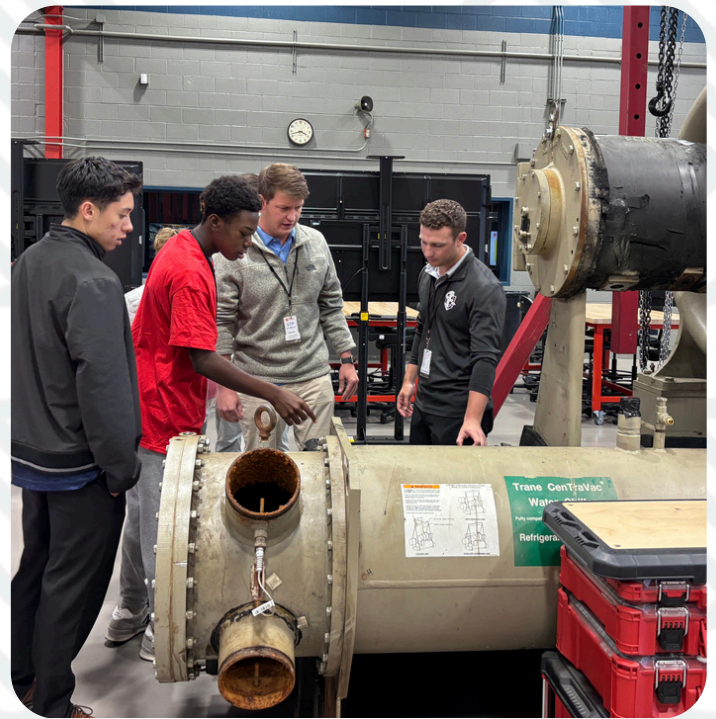

FALL CAREER EXPLORATION

Although our building isn't completed yet, that hasn't stopped us from workforce readiness programming. 59 teens and 55 juniors have participated in a variety of career exploration opportunities with industry partners.

Thank you to our fall program partners!
