About The Dacre Arms

Since the 16th century an Inn has stood on the present site of The Dacre Arms, previously named The Cross Keys. With stabling for 50 horses around a cobbled yard, The Dacre Arms (named after Lord and Lady Dacre), became the most important Posting Station in the East Riding, offering visitors a welcome refreshing drink and wholesome food. In one small room the Inn housed the local Court of Justice. At the rear was another small room, the 'Jockey Room' used for harnessing. Also at the back of the Inn, a lattice window overlooking the yard containing 150 pieces of glass. In the tradition of time The Dacre Arms had its own brewery too. A 'secret' room was entered only by a trapdoor and served fugitives from the 1745 Jacobite rebellion. Later smugglers used the room to hide contraband.

The Present structure of The Dacre Arms dates from 1806 and was for over 100 years owned by the charter family. During this time (on February 28th 1844) a society was formed by a horse dealer who was visiting the annual Brandesburton horse fair. So moved was the horse dealer to hear that a friend could not afford to bury his wife that he set up the Franklin Dead Brief, which is still in operation to this day and works in the following way:

On the death of member under 65's pay £2 and over 65's and widows pay £1. It costs £2 to become a member and 50p subscription each year. Every year an annual meeting is held at The Dacre Arms on the first Wednesday in February. The society has over 350 members.

FOOD MENU

Children are welcome at The Dacre Arms but we ask those responsible for them to ensure their safety and out of consideration to other customers to remain seated and under supervision at all times, also to have vacated the premises by 9.00pm.

Please note that our food is prepared freshly on the premises daily, during busy periods there may be a longer wait therefore please allow us time to prepare it, if you are in a rush please ask about waiting times before placing your order.

Allergens & Intolerance's

All food is prepared in a kitchen where nuts, gluten and other allergens could be present and our menu descriptions cannot include all ingredients. We regret that we cannot guarantee that any of our products are free from nuts or other allergens due to cross contamination. If you have a food allergy please let us know before ordering.

NGCI

The meals marked NGCI on this menu have been made with ingredients that do not contain gluten. However as we use other food in our kitchen that contain gluten, we cannot guarantee that these dishes are gluten free.
