 "Let the little children come to me." Matthew 4:19

Today, we celebrate the dedication of this great church. It is called the Basilica of St. John Lateran. It is the cathedral of the diocese in Rome. Today we don't just celebrate the Basilica of St. John Lateran. We celebrate the pope and all of God's People. In today's Gospel, Jesus visits a different place of worship called a Temple. Jesus tells us that we are to treat the places where we worship God with respect.

John 2:13-22
He spoke about the temple of his own body.

The story of the cleansing of the Temple is found in all four Gospels. In Matthew, Mark, and Luke, Jesus is upset with the deceitful practices of the vendors and expels them for that reason. But in John, Jesus' authority is contrasted with the authority of the Temple cult and is a criticism of the cult itself.

The story is composed of two parts, Jesus' action in the Temple and Jesus' predictions about the Temple's destruction. The time of year is the sacred feast of Passover. If the many pilgrims to Jerusalem during Passover were to have animals for the sacrificial rituals of the feast, it was necessary to sell cattle in the Temple and to change the unclean Roman money. By denouncing this, Jesus is cutting to the core of the Temple cult.

The story is really about Jesus' fate, not the Temple's fate, revealing that Jesus, not the Temple, is the locus of God's presence on earth. As they often do in John, the Jews misunderstand Jesus' words. This gives John the chance to explicitly state his point. Although this is the beginning of his ministry, Jesus is already speaking of his coming death and Resurrection.

John intentionally integrates a post-Resurrection perspective into the Gospel narrative. The statement that concludes this passage uses the fact of the Resurrection to prove the point of Jesus' words. Believers need to remember the words and actions of Jesus and claim them as affirmations of the truths of their faith.

Christians sometimes point to Jesus' anger in this passage as a way to point out Jesus' humanity. But this would miss the powerful point of the entire Gospel, that the Word became flesh. The point is not that Jesus' anger proves he is human. It is that a human being, in his words and actions, can claim the authority of God.

"Death is a decisive moment in the human person's encounter with God the Savior. Helping the Christian to experience this moment with spiritual assistance is a supreme act of charity. It encompasses the patient with the solid support of human relationships to accompany them and open them to hope. Palliative care and hospice are precious and crucial instruments in the care of patients with serious and complex chronic or terminal illnesses, and they help provide comfort to both the patients and their families."

THE CATHOLIC CORNER

The Dedication of the Lateran Basilica

"To dedicate or consecrate" a place to God is a ritual that is found in every religion. To "reserve" a place to God is an act of recognizing His glory and honor.

When the Emperor Constantine granted full liberty to Christians in 313, they did not spare in order to construct places for the Lord – numerous are the churches constructed at that time. Constantine himself also constructed churches, one of which he was a magnificent basilica on the Caelian Hill in Rome, over the ancient Lateran Palace, which Pope Sylvester I dedicated to Christ the Savior (318 or 324). A chapel dedicated to Saint John the Baptist was built inside it which served as the baptistry. This moved Pope Sergius III to dedicate it to Saint John the Baptist as well. Lastly, Pope Lucius II also dedicated it to Saint John the Evangelist in the 12th century. Thus, the name of this Papal Basilica is the Basilica of the Most Holy Savior and of Saints John the Baptist and John the Evangelist in the Lateran. Christians consider the Basilica to be the mother church of all churches in the world.

The church was destroyed several times in the course of the centuries, and always rebuilt. The final reconstruction took place under the pontificate of Benedict XIII. The church was rededicated in 1724. It was at that time that the feast celebrated today was established and extended to the universal Church.

Today's Feast of the Dedication of the Lateran Basilica allows us to remember the journey of the people and God's constant and faithful care. At the same time, we are reminded today that each one of us is a "house of God" in the Risen Jesus, because the Holy Spirit dwells in each one of us (cf. 1 Cor. 3:16). This awareness alone leads us to praise the Lord on the one hand, and on the other, it leads us to say, at times excessively, "O Lord, I am not worthy that you should enter under my roof" (Mt. 8:8), forgetting that He is already in us and that He welcomes us and loves us not as we would like to be, but as we are, here, now. All the present distractions are what make the Lord's face blurry. When we learn to keep our gaze fixed on Jesus, the Author and Perfector of our faith, of our friendship with Him (cf. Heb 12:1-4), our faces will shine with light that flows from a "unified" heart. The serenity required is momentary, but it is needs to develop over a life time of continuous entering within ourselves and heading straight for the "King's room" (cf. The Interior Castle, Saint Teresa of Avila).

- Ponder the coming of the Feast. Imagine the months and weeks leading up to this. Imagine the planning and anticipation. Consider all involved for the months prior to this encounter: money changers, sellers, rich, poor, all pilgrims, and Jesus and His disciples.
- Imagine the commotion of an overcrowded Temple area, the smell of animals, the noise, the greed, the blood of animals in the Temple, the dry heat, etc.
- Imagine the arrival of Jesus at the Temple. Ponder the righteous anger that wells up in Him as He witnesses the desecration of His Father's house.
- Ponder the whip of cords, Jesus driving out the animals, turning over the tables, etc.
- Now turn to the temple of your soul. It is also the Father's house. You are a sacred dwelling of God. See also the sin that you have permitted into your soul. As you do, see Jesus as He sees this sin and with great zeal seeks to drive it out. What is your response? Is it gratitude? Or do you resist?
