

Due to increased costs for some health certificates and the confusion in which certificate is needed, Highland Farms is listing below the different types of health certificates available and the charges we will be making for each certificate.

Highland Farms is committed to helping its customers streamline their importation of our smoked salmon. Given time, we will research and work with Embassies and Consulates to aid in finding the best solution to your health certificate needs.

NOAA - USDC - FIS Export Health Certificate. Charge $1,500+

This health certificate is only required for certain countries. It only certifies that the product is fit for human consumption on that shipment. It does not certify that Highland Farms is a processor with good standing, or that the FDA or Florida Department of Agriculture approve the facility.

Not all countries require this certificate although it is very commonly mistaken for the certificate that is required. Brokers need to be specific when selecting which certificate is used.

For countries that require please visit <https://www.fisheries.noaa.gov/content/export-certification>

Enterprise Florida Certificate of Free Sale and Sanitation. Charge $20.

The health certificate certifies that Highland Farms is registered to do business in Florida and is permitted by the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services to freely sell there products in the State of Florida. By extension, it also shows that Highland Farms has been accepted by the Food and Drug Administration who under Section 402, are mandated to inspect all seafood processors.

Certificate of Origin (various depending on import country). No charge.
