

History

1920s

In 1920, Phoenix boasted its first skyscraper, the Heard Building, a population 29,053, and several sorority women who wanted to gather for sisterhood. Because not a single sorority had an alumnae chapter in Phoenix at that time, they gathered on April 4th that year and created the Phoenix Panhellenic Association (PPA). A century has passed since then, and in those 100 years PPA, which was also known as the Pan-Hellenic Society or Pan-Hellenic club, has provided sisterhood, philanthropy, opportunities for service, and social events to the sorority woman of the area. Let's take a moment to celebrate those 100 years and reflect on all that PPA has done and has meant to the people of Phoenix.

The ground was laid in 1919 when the Alpha Phi Quarterly reported that "A city Panhellenic in far off Phoenix, Arizona, is the latest addition to the roll. Sixteen fraternity women representing eleven national sororities organized at a lunch and laid the foundation of a permanent Panhellenic group. The sororities represented were KΚΓ, ΚΑΘ, ΠΒΦ, ΓΦΒ, ΣΑΙ, ΧΩ, ΔΔΔ, ΑΟΠ, ΔΖ (or perhaps ΔΓ), ΒΣΟ and ΑΧΩ." Margaret Mae Hurley, an Alpha Omicron Pi from the University of California-Berkeley was present and served as PPA's first president.

From 16 women in 1919 to 100 women in 1923, PPA grew quickly. In 1925, the organization included women from eighteen national sororities and worked "to promote good fellowship among the various sororities and to aid newcomers in the city who are eligible in becoming acquainted" (1925 article in the Republic). By 1928, the city of Phoenix was home to approximately 48,000 residents, and the state had just celebrated its "Sweet Sixteen" birthday. Against this background of explosive growth, PPA offered sorority women an important way to meet each other and get connected.

How did those women ever find each other with no internet and limited phone service? Many turned to the society pages of the Republic where hostesses listed their phone numbers and asked sorority women in the area to put their names on a list in the Goldwater Department Store ladies room! To make sure that women at college could attend while home on vacation and meet area alumnae, the members of PPA invited them to holiday and summer events. In 1924, Panhellenic women began funding scholarship loans for sorority women enrolled in the University of Arizona and the Arizona State College at Tempe.

1923-1924 President
Mrs. A.J. "Birdie" Keen ΔΖ

Much of that fundraising took place at Panhellenic social events that were described in the paper. As we might expect, the society page announcements are rich in details about the centerpieces, the décor, the high bridge score, and the hostess. Shirley Christy often hosted these events at her home on Christy Road which ran alongside the William Christy ranch (presumably her husband's) and later became McDowell Rd.

PPA welcomed 1926 at a New Year's Eve party at the Rendezvous Ballroom in Mesa. Admission was 10 cents and dancing was 5 cents! It was truly the roaring 20's. When the Great Depression hit, there are not as many Panhellenic luncheons, teas, or dances described in the Republic, but the fundraising apparently continued.

1930s

On December 1, 1934, the Republic describes a Gala Holiday Dance Benefit in the fiesta room of Hotel Westward Ho. Florence New made all of the arrangements for the dance, and music was furnished by the Kit Kat orchestra with proceeds going to the Scholarship Loan fund.

In 1936, Panhellenic hosted a "Guest Day" at Camelback Inn for members and their guests at a Bridge Tea. That same year, the organization was able to award scholarship loans to 20 women attending college. The calendar for December 1937 featured 5 afternoon events including a benefit scholarship theater party, as well as the grand Holiday Tea when past Presidents of PPA presided at the tea table.

Greek-letter women were guests at a beautifully appointed tea at Jokake Inn (March 1, 1938)

More than 100 guests were expected for high school seniors and Junior College women who were to attend college the next year were also invited. By 1938, as the Great Depression was coming to an end, the Phoenix Panhellenic Association had more than 300 members getting together at teas, dances, scholarship efforts, philanthropies, and other events.

In 1938 President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who himself was crippled by polio, founded the "March of Dimes"—an act that may have inspired Panhellenic's decision in 1939 to raise money to aid crippled children. When the year began, the scholarship loan fund was already completed funded and so the annual fundraising dance was not held. When PPA turned its attention to helping crippled children, it added a representative for this effort to its governance structure that included the four main executive officers and committees for nominating, program, publicity, membership & reception, and the Christmas Tea.

A 1940 ad for Goldwater's Department Store told shoppers, "Buy your Easter Seals, to help crippled children, from any Pan-Hellenic member." In addition to selling Easter Seals, some Panhellenic members devoted three days each week going from home to home where there were crippled children to teach them the three r's. To end the year, at least 75 guests gathered at the home of Mrs. John McAtee for the Christmas Tea. As is the custom today, Executive Board members hosted.

In 1941, in the wake of the attack on Pearl Harbor, the annual Christmas Tea was cancelled, and the money was used to purchase Defense Bonds. Panhellenic also donated a percentage of its dues to the American Red Cross and used the money they had previously spent to mail meeting notices to members to purchase magazine subscriptions for soldiers' recreation centers.

Most social functions were put aside in the war years as Panhellenic was concentrating on war work. This included rolling surgical bandages and selling war stamps and bonds at the downtown booth known as the "little house" at the corner of Adams Street and Central Avenue and at two local Fox and Orpheum movie theaters. The theaters included information in their ads about which Panhellenic sorority women would be at the theater to sell stamps and bonds. In September of 1942 Panhellenic women and other women's groups in the Phoenix community had raised $6,278.62 in bonds and stamps at the "little house" and $3,794.50 through sales at the movie theaters. By April, that amount had risen to $40,167.80.

Panhellenic Red Cross work was done the last Monday of the month at the Phoenix Woman's Club house from 7 to 10 pm. Women who participated were asked to wear cotton dresses. Panhellenic women also volunteered to serve as hostesses and provide refreshments each Sunday during the coffee hour at the United Service Organizations (USO) club. Panhellenic member, Anna Sissons frequently played piano selections at these events. And Panhellenic again placed a register in Goldwater's women's restroom, looking for additional Greek letter women in the area.

As the tide of the war in Europe began to turn in late 1944, PPA revived the Panhellenic Holiday Tea at the Encanto clubhouse in honor of alumnae, active members, and pledges. The 1945 annual Spring luncheon was rescheduled due the death of President Roosevelt; the war in Europe ended in May that year; and in December more than 150 guests enjoyed the Holiday Tea at the home of Mrs Joseph Woollett, past National President of Delta Gamma.

More and more Panhellenic bridge teas and dances meant more and more money for its philanthropy. A 1946 bridge tea raised money for the Florence Crittenton Home, and in 1947 PPA voted to extend scholarships to women at Arizona State College at Flagstaff, Gila Junior College, and Phoenix Colleges. At the Frontier Frolics on November 29, 1949 at the Valley Field Polo and Riding Club house on East Thomas Road, Panhellenic members and their escorts enjoyed an evening of dancing, square dancing, games, a barbershop quartet, and a program which continued from 9pm until 1am. A midnight barbeque concluded the evening's entertainment, all for the benefit of the scholarship loan fund.

By 1950, Phoenix's population numbered 105,000, and Arizona State University's enrollment tripled—to nearly 4,000! In April, PPA held its first Starlight Charity Ball at the Paradise Inn. Formal invitations were mailed, and funds benefited both the Scholarship Fund and the Phoenix School Lunch Program Inc. that fed underprivileged youngsters. In February, there was a costume party for the Phoenix Alumnae Presidents where guests dressed in frocks typical of their particular college period.

During the 1950's, our first Panhellenic sororities came to ASU and lived at Alpha Hall. To help high school seniors learn about college life, especially sorority life, PPA invited them to Cokes 'n Cotton parties for serious discussions about college, wardrobe hints, and humorous skits.

1950 Panhellenic Holiday Party

1959 Annual Panhellenic Fall Luncheon

1960s

In a December 30, 1961 newspaper article, Panhellenic President, Mrs. William Goodheart KAΘ, says "Panhellenic is a working organization and not a social organization. Our main goal is our scholarship program." Indeed, the scholarship loan program has been an important focus of PPA since 1924 making money available interest free to any woman who was excelling academically in college and enabling her to continue her education. It has been an exceptionally successful program. By 1958, Panhellenic had loaned a total of $7,058.75 to 67 women, without losing a single penny as all loans were repaid. Given the success of the loan program, PPA decided to expand it that year to give an outright scholarship based upon need as well as scholastic excellence.

Until 1960, membership in Panhellenic was not by sorority, but by individual member. That change may have prompted the decision in 1961 to list all sorority alumnae chapters and their contact person's name and address in the newspaper. In December, 1962, PPA again extended their philanthropy and used the proceeds from the annual theater party to establish a book fund for the high schools of Phoenix Union, Glendale, and Scottsdale school systems. The need for scholarships and loans for college women continued as the cost of a college education increased. For example, the parking fee at ASU (which enrolled 22,500 students in 1966-67) was increased from $3 to $5, and room and board cost $400-$416 per semester.

In 1967, PPA sponsored a family concert with the Phoenix Symphony Orchestra and Symphony Chorale at Gammage Auditorium. Tickets were $1 for the main floor and balcony and $2 for the grand tier. The proceeds funded several $350 scholarships or no-interest loans to sorority women in their junior and senior years; these were presented by Mrs Jack Williams, wife of the governor, at the Annual Scholarship Tea.

Fashion shows and luncheons dominated Panhellenic's calendar in the 1970s. At these events, ticket prices ranged from $5 to $7 with as many as 500 or more members and guests, some of whom modeled the fashions. To celebrate PPA's 50th Anniversary there was a Fashion Show and Luncheon at the Camelback Inn with fashions from Saks Fifth Ave. In that 50-year period, Panhellenic awarded 130 scholarship loans and, since 1965, over $8,000 in scholarships.

In 1975 Panhellenic started its long association with the Phoenix Thunderbirds and the Phoenix Open. It all began when the husband of Alice Lindbloom KAΘ suggested Panhellenic women work at the concession stands to earn monies for the scholarship program. Phoenix Panhellenic Association agreed, and so started our long-standing mutually benefiting collaboration with the Thunderbirds and the Phoenix Open—"A perfect pairing since 1975."

Executive Board making Panhellenic plans for 1971

The colors of Panhellenic attire at the Open was blue and white to mimic the Thunderbird colors, and women had the option to purchase a white/red hat to complete the look. In those early years many of you may remember that Panhellenic volunteers served at the concession stands, took inventory of food supplies, and cleaned off nearby tables. Panhellenic delegates personally reached out to members to sign up volunteers; men were not allowed to volunteer. Phoenix Country Club was a smaller venue then today's course at the TPC, so most tents had excellent views of the golf action.

Our first Open Chair, Sharon Amrein KKIΓ and Alice Lindbloom KAΘ

At our first Phoenix Open in 1976, there were only 6 concession tents which were staffed by 450 Panhellenic volunteers who clocked 2,530 hours of service. Panhellenic volunteers were area alumnae and Arizona State coeds. In exchange for their service, they received all the food they could eat, free passes for the tournament, and an opportunity to see celebrities like Bob Hope.

1980s

In the 1980's Panhellenic members volunteered at the Phoenix Open at the new TPC in Scottsdale to raise money for the scholarship program. Regular monthly meetings continued in members' homes. Members quickly figured out who lived in their immediate area/neighborhood, and car pools were formed. There was no Google map back then, so we helped each other find the location where there was PPA sign at the front sidewalk welcoming us. Members of the car pools became friends, and often the ride to or from the meeting was the best part of the evening. Christmas events were held in a member's home, and there was usually an ornament gift exchange. The May banquet/President's potluck at the end of the year was usually in someone's backyard. Scholarship recipients and their parents were invited, and new officers were installed. In the mid-80's, meetings followed an agenda and Roberts's Rules of Order. Loans were dropped in 1987; scholarships continue to this day.

In 1987 the Stadium Course at TPC Scottsdale became the permanent location for the Phoenix Open. Phoenix Panhellenic was still the main volunteer source for concessions. Many more volunteers were needed, and men were allowed to volunteer. Volunteers cooked hot dogs in the Bird's Nest. ASU collegians were also working with us in the Bird's Nest. Over 900 volunteers were solicited through their Panhellenic delegate. At that time, the Thunderbirds usually donated $15,000 to PPA for volunteering at the Open; by 2005 PPA was earning $20,000; the 2019 donation totaled $39,078.77.

1990s

The 1990's continued as in the 80's. At the Christmas party different charities were introduced, and money and or donations were collected for those worthy causes. Volunteers continued to work at the Open, especially in the concession stands which kept us very busy. In 1991, for example, the concession stock included: 9,400 sandwiches, 27,360 hot dog buns, 160,00 pounds of ice, 192 lbs. of coffee and 225,000 cans of beer. In November 1999, the Thunderbirds named Mary Young ΣΣΣ and Diane Coulter AXΩ of Phoenix Panhellenic the Phoenix Open Volunteers of the Year.

2000s

The 2000s brought changes in documenting and sending out minutes of the monthly meetings. Minutes and other important messages are sent in emails and are posted online at our Facebook and Instagram accounts. Meetings are now at the Pera Club or at a hotel, and PowerPoints are now routinely used.

2010s

In 2013 a new Panhellenic staff started at ASU. Several members from the board met with the new staff and came to a mutually beneficial understanding. PPA now helps at ASU recruitment, meets with Greek women to promote our scholarship program, and presents scholarships at their awards ceremony. The ASU Panhellenic staff supports our scholarship program by volunteering with us at the Phoenix

Panhellenic Office at 2009 Phoenix Open

Open, and many often attend our Awards Banquet or Celebration of Sisterhood. We also work with the Panhellenic board at Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff AZ. Members of PPA go to Flagstaff every year for our annual “Slices for Scholarship” where we provide pizza for the Greek women at NAU, explain our scholarship program, and encourage them to apply. Beginning in 2013, at the Monday evening Awards Banquet, sororities donated baskets for a raffle to support our philanthropies.

Volunteering at the Phoenix Open is now Phoenix Panhellenic’s main source of income for the scholarship program which has awarded $208,350 in scholarships since 2011. And Panhellenic has raised over $800,000 for its philanthropies since the 1950’s by all means.

NPC awarded Phoenix Panhellenic Association the 2013-2015 Harriett Macht Outstanding Alumnae Panhellenic. This is awarded bi-annually by NPC. It recognizes excellence in communication, programming, scholarship, and service. The award is sponsored by Delta Phi Epsilon Sorority. Accepting the award at the NPC Conference in Dallas in Fall of 2015 were Past Presidents Kim OBrien ΠΒΦ, Susan Norman ΔΖ, and Christy Robertson Yorder ΦΜ. At that event, Julie Johnson, NPC Panhellenics chairman, remarked that “Phoenix truly demonstrates the meaning of lifetime sorority membership and all the good that Panhellenic women can achieve working together.”

In 2015 in our 95th year, the year-end banquet was changed to a Saturday luncheon now called, “Celebration of Sisterhood” and has remained on Saturday ever since. The main elements are the same: awarding scholarships, installation of officers, committee reports, the announcement of “Woman of the Year,” and starting in 2018 the “Emerging Leader of the Year” award. 2017 brought a new commitment to become more involved with ASU Panhellenic, and PPA attended our first ASU PowHer Conference. The Philanthropic Committee of Phoenix Panhellenic continues to participate in activities on the campus and to educate them on community philanthropic events. The outcome was so positive that similar interactions were initiated at the other three Arizona universities. Seeing the activity about this effort on social media shows that momentum is building for it.

Besides scholarships for women these past 100 years, the Phoenix Panhellenic Association offers alumnae member leadership as well as social and philanthropic volunteer opportunities for continued sorority involvement beyond college years. PPA has certainly enjoyed a rich 100 year history, and we look forward to the next Centennial.

Education Is Aim Of Panhellenic

Scholarships and loans for education are the main program of the Panhellenic organization.

Phoenix Panhellenic is composed of representatives from 21 local sororities. There are 38 sororities in national Panhellenic.

These groups are the Greek letter societies organized on campuses in the United States and Canada.

Mrs. Charles Horton is president of Phoenix Panhellenic, which each year awards scholarships totaling more than $1,000 to girls at the three Arizona universities.

LOANS ARE made to applicants and set up on a revolving fund basis. Board members and three scholarship committee members decide on the recipients.

Each spring Panhellenic women hold a large tea to bring together graduating high school girls. At that time a program explains sorority life on campus and after college through alumnae groups.

THE PANHELLENIC group maintains a central file in the Community Service Building with a list of high school girls' names available to all the Greek alumnae chapters in the Valley.

Mrs. Horton is a member of Alpha Chi Omega alumnae, the Children's Theater, Star Starters, Girl Scouts and PTA. Mr. Horton is an accountant. The couple has two girls and two boys—Deborah, 12; Elizabeth, 11; Walter, 9; and Patrick, 7.

Panhellenic officers include Mrs. Ruth Jane Lovebury, vice president; Harry Sobon, secretary; and John Shroll, treasurer.

Come To Order

The growth of American high schools is a fact which is being met by the Panhellenic Association. In the past, the organization has been able to meet the needs of the college girls, but now it is necessary to look to the future. The Panhellenic Association is now planning to meet the needs of the high school girls. This is a new and important step for the organization. Growth OF State Colleges Is Making Phoenix More Panhellenic-Minded

By MARY LOU LOVER

Phoenix Panhellenic prints itself in its progress.

Helping young college women scholarship and get through college.

And among the product, Mrs. Dorothea C. Davison, elected president at Mountain Shadows meet last Sunday afternoon.

"In 19 years, the Phoenix Panhellenic Association has never yet failed to be equal to its responsibilities. And we have placed close to $100 in loans, in $100 amounts," she says.

"That speaks well for the response."

"Many people think that societies are a college situation—when they get out, that's the end. But your society is what you make it," she philosophized.

"And when societies are based on a practical venture with a useful purpose—such as scholarships for girls—then it's a pretty wonderful thing."

She thinks Phoenix is becoming more "inter-group conscious."

"I can't see one of our big problems has been that there have been so many other organizations and interest groups that women in Phoenix have been so active in their society groups as they might be."

"With societies expanding on Arizona campuses, graduating women will become more Panhellenic-minded in this area."

A Sigma Kappa and former member of the University of Arizona, Mrs. Davison takes the job with her of experience, she's been publicly chairman, secretary, and vice president.

She's also done rich and busy working, served on the advisory board of women's Episcopal church, and worked with the United Fund, and the United States Red Cross.

Still, she says, "I think the family should always come first."

Phoenix Is More "Total-Group Conscious" Mrs. Dorothea C. Davison working on an elementary education degree.

"I would recommend that any woman go into and take a course in something she is interested in, because she interests after you get out of school often change, and the course give you a broader insight into the problems of today."

"School has been a very rewarding experience—if directed."

"It makes me understand the problems of adults better—why they do certain things certain ways."

She has her "homework"—attending three children (Paul, 12, Paul, 10, and George, 8) and her job. Her colleagues, such as George's grandmother, are her support system.

She's up by 4 o'clock. After breakfast, she has the kids off to school and starts out on her way.

Since it's better," she tells.

As Panhellenic president will officially chairwoman, she'll have to see that the president's party president of society also group, the "It's Greek to me" high school girls April, and the annual in May year called "Grecian day."
