

World AIDS Day December 1

Take the rights path: My health, my right!

We partner with the World Health Organization and communities to commemorate World AIDS Day and call on global leaders and citizens to champion the right to health for all. By addressing inequalities that hinder progress in ending AIDS, everyone's rights are protected.

AIDS as a public health threat can end by 2030, with human rights at the center. For more information on our HIV prevention and treatment program, please call (844) 667-4482.
