Catechism Corner by Kacey Carey, DRE

I have been to the site where the two disciples met Jesus on the road to Emmaus. It is now a barren patch of ground, but served as a remarkable revelation to those two disciples, turning their despair into hope. I have always wished to hear this discussion. Jesus opened scriptures to them, summarizing the prediction of his coming, death and resurrection. He probably quoted the Pentateuch prophets, Isaiah 53 and Micah, describing the Messiah born in Bethlehem. But the significance of Jesus walking with them, as he does us, despite their lack of recognition, is important. When our spiritual eyes are closed to his presence, he meets believers even when we fail to recognize him. Only upon the breaking of the bread, do we and the disciples know him. Breaking of bread is seen as a foretaste of the "messianic banquet." Breaking open the truth of the Eucharist, saves us. Just as bread is broken to be shared, Jesus body was broken to offer newness of life to all. He gives us himself, which becomes food for the journey, enabling all to proclaim the gospel. The take away of this story, is emphasis on finding hope despite disappointing circumstances, understanding suffering that culminates in joy and recognizing Jesus' presence in daily life and communion. We like these two disciples, need to excitedly share the good news and go forth and defend the reason for our hope.

"Were not our hearts burning within us while he spoke to us on the way and opened the Scriptures to us?"
St.Luke 24:32

Rincón de Catecismo por Kacey Carey, DRE

He visitado el lugar donde los dos discípulos se encontraron con Jesús en el camino a Emaús. Hoy es un terreno yermo, pero sirvió como una revelación extraordinaria para aquellos dos discípulos, transformando su desesperación en esperanza. Siempre he deseado escuchar aquella conversación. Jesús les abrió las Escrituras, resumiendo las profecías sobre su venida, su muerte y su resurrección. Probablemente citó el Pentateuco, a los profetas, a Isaías 53 y a Miqueas, describiendo al Mesías que nacería en Belén. Sin embargo, resulta significativo el hecho de que Jesús caminara junto a ellos —tal como lo hace con nosotros— a pesar de que ellos no lograran reconocerlo. Cuando nuestros ojos espirituales permanecen cerrados a su presencia, Él sale al encuentro de los creyentes, incluso cuando nosotros no logramos identificarlo. Solo al partir el pan, tanto nosotros como los discípulos logramos reconocerlo. El acto de partir el pan se considera un anticipo del «banquete mesiánico». El desvelar la verdad de la Eucaristía es lo que nos salva. Del mismo modo que el pan se parte para ser compartido, el cuerpo de Jesús fue quebrantado para ofrecer una vida nueva a toda la humanidad. Él se nos entrega a sí mismo, convirtiéndose en alimento para el camino y capacitando a todos para proclamar el Evangelio. La enseñanza fundamental de este relato radica en la importancia de hallar esperanza a pesar de las circunstancias decepcionantes, en comprender que el sufrimiento culmina en gozo y en reconocer la presencia de Jesús tanto en la vida cotidiana como en la comunión. Al igual que aquellos dos discípulos, nosotros también debemos compartir con entusiasmo la Buena Nueva, salir al encuentro del mundo y defender la razón de nuestra esperanza.

«¿Acaso no ardía nuestro corazón en nuestro interior mientras nos hablaba en el camino y nos abría las Escrituras?» San Lucas 24:32

-Congratulations to the students, parents and godparents who attended our bilingual Communion Retreat on Saturday with featured speaker, Deacon Zuniga.

-The Missionaries of Charity were instrumental in instructing our students about how God works in their lives.

-Last call for Confirmation service hours, both for first and second year students is this week. Likewise, second year students may not be confirmed until they have completed their service requirement. To serve the community and the church is to serve Christ.

 NOTICIAS DE ED RELIGIOSA *****

¡Felicidades a los estudiantes, padres y padrinos que asistieron a nuestro Retiro de Comunión bilingüe el sábado, con el orador invitado, el diácono Zúñiga!

Las Misioneras de la Caridad fueron fundamentales para instruir a nuestros estudiantes sobre cómo obra Dios en sus vidas.

Esta semana es el último plazo para cumplir con las horas de servicio para la Confirmación, tanto para los estudiantes de primer año como para los de segundo. Por favor, tengan en cuenta que los estudiantes de primer año no podrán pasar al segundo año de Confirmación a menos que hayan cumplido plenamente con los requisitos del primer año. Del mismo modo, los estudiantes de segundo año no podrán recibir la Confirmación hasta que hayan completado su requisito de servicio. Servir a la comunidad y a la Iglesia es servir a Cristo.
