JUNE 21

Catechism Corner by Kacey Carey, DRE

This week's gospel covers a lot of ground. From parables of lost sheep, calls for discipleship to sending out the twelve and prioritizing the chosen Jews. But why such emphasis on the reaching the "lost sheep of Israel"? Because of all people, the Jews knew the law, expected the coming Messiah, but still strayed away from following God's covenant. And aren't we a lot like those chosen Jews? Even though we are raised in the true faith, attend the church Jesus established and try to follow the commandments, we still slip up. We still need reconciliation with God because we are prone to human frailties and desires. That is the definition of sin, to know something is wrong, yet do it anyway. In our misguided thinking, we excuse and downplay our sins claiming justification on our part. So then how can we become disciples if we ourselves constantly need forgiving? We can try several methods. We can build relationships with those we encounter, influencing through the way we lead our lives. We can share personal testimony of how God changed us. We can offer practical and emotional support through helping others who need us. We can share messages of hope through social media. We can host gatherings that invite participation and foster a sense of belonging. We can practice open dialogue- discussing our faith, doubts and beliefs without condemnation. We can become channels in which God pours out love to a needful world.

"To believe in a God means to realize that the facts of the world are not the whole story. To believe in a God means to realize that life has a meaning." Ludwig Wittgenstein (1889-1951, Austrian philosopher.)

Rincón de Catecismo por Kacey Carey, DRE

El Evangelio de esta semana abarca muchos temas: desde las parábolas de la oveja perdida y el llamado al discipulado, hasta el envío de los doce y la prioridad dada a los judíos elegidos. Pero, ¿por qué tanto énfasis en llegar a las "ovejas perdidas de Israel"? Porque, entre todos los pueblos, los judíos conocían la Ley y esperaban la venida del Mesías, y sin embargo se desviaron de la alianza con Dios. ¿Y acaso no nos parecemos mucho a aquellos judíos elegidos? Aunque nos hayamos criado en la fe verdadera, asistamos a la Iglesia que Jesús fundó y tratemos de cumplir los mandamientos, seguimos cometiendo errores. Seguimos necesitando la reconciliación con Dios, pues somos propensos a las fragilidades y deseos humanos. Esa es la definición de pecado: saber que algo está mal y, aun así, hacerlo. En nuestro razonamiento erróneo, justificamos y restamos importancia a nuestros pecados, alegando razones que creemos válidas. Entonces, ¿cómo podemos ser discípulos si nosotros mismos necesitamos constantemente el perdón? Podemos intentar varios métodos. Podemos entablar relaciones con quienes nos rodean e influir en ellos mediante nuestra forma de vivir. Podemos compartir nuestro testimonio personal sobre cómo Dios nos ha transformado. Podemos ofrecer apoyo práctico y emocional ayudando a quienes nos necesitan. Podemos compartir mensajes de esperanza a través de las redes sociales. Podemos organizar encuentros que inviten a la participación y fomenten un sentido de pertenencia. Podemos practicar el diálogo abierto, hablando de nuestra fe, nuestras dudas y nuestras creencias sin juzgar a los demás. Podemos convertirnos en canales a través de los cuales Dios derrama su amor sobre un mundo necesitado.

"Crear en un Dios significa darse cuenta de que los hechos del mundo no son toda la historia. Creer en un Dios significa darse cuenta de que la vida tiene un sentido". — Ludwig Wittgenstein (1889-1951, filósofo austriaco).
