Catechism Corner by Kacey Carey, DRE

Our church is larger and more alive than we may think. Among our members are the living (the Church Militant) and the deceased in Purgatory (the Church suffering) and the deceased who have arisen to heaven (the Church Triumphant), which includes all the saints. Many assume that once a person dies, they go to heaven, however this is not the case. Most of us need a little cleaning off period which the "mud room" of heaven Purgatory, grants us. But once we get our little toe into Purgatory, we are assured of eventually attaining heaven. Today our church says we are one Body; we live in a communion that encompasses heaven and earth, all three Churches. Further, our Catechism says that the "communion of saints" is made up of all men who have placed their hope in Christ and belong to him, whether they have already died or are still alive. So, it benefits us to invoke our patrons, favorite saints, departed relatives and friends whom we believe are already with God. Catholics believe that there is a life after death for all who have preceded us. So, we may call on our "friends in heaven" in times of need, joy and sorrow. Who wouldn't like to have the technological wizardry of St. Carlo Acutis or the counsel of St. Catherine of Sienna? Who wouldn't want to convert to Catholicism like St. Augustine or St. Francis? Every mother and grandmother knows that St. Monica prevailed after years of prayer, giving us hope for our own children's conversion. Let us invoke St. Joseph's help with family, household problems, and employment. Let us invoke Saints. Philomena, Maria Goretti, Agnes and Thomas Aquinas when plagued with thoughts of impurity. Let us call upon St. Charbel and St. Faustina when distracted in prayer. To combat pride, let us invoke St. Bernadette and Solanus Casey. When fearful of death, let us call upon martyrs Saints Maximilian Kolbe or Charles Lwanga. There are millions of saints in all three Churches waiting for us to call upon them to help us. Let's get to it.

If my namesake is a saint, I have a friend with God.: (CCC 2156-2159, 2165-2167)

Rincón de Catecismo por Kacey Carey, DRE

Nuestra Iglesia es más grande y vibrante de lo que imaginamos. Entre nuestros miembros se encuentran los vivos (la Iglesia Militante), los difuntos en el Purgatorio (la Iglesia Purgante) y los difuntos que han resucitado al cielo (la Iglesia Triunfante), que incluye a todos los santos. Muchos creen que al morir, uno va al cielo, pero no es así. La mayoría necesitamos un período de purificación, que el Purgatorio nos concede. Pero una vez que entramos en el Purgatorio, tenemos la certeza de alcanzar el cielo. Hoy nuestra Iglesia afirma que somos un solo Cuerpo; vivimos en comunión que abarca el cielo y la tierra, las tres Iglesias. Además, nuestro Catecismo dice que la comunión de los santos está formada por todos los hombres que han puesto su esperanza en Cristo y le pertenecen, ya sea que hayan muerto o estén vivos. Por lo tanto, nos beneficia invocar a nuestros patronos, santos predilectos, familiares y amigos difuntos, quienes creemos que ya están con Dios. Los católicos creemos que hay vida después de la muerte para todos los que nos han precedido. Por eso, podemos invocar a nuestros «amigos en el cielo» en momentos de necesidad, alegría y tristeza. ¿Quién no desearía contar con la sabiduría tecnológica de San Carlos Acutis o el consejo de Santa Catalina de Siena?

¿Quién no querría convertirse al catolicismo como San Agustín o San Francisco? Toda madre y abuela sabe que Santa Mónica venció tras años de oración, dándonos esperanza para la conversión de nuestros propios hijos. Invoquemos la ayuda de San José para los problemas familiares, domésticos y laborales. Invoquemos a Santa Filomena, Santa María Goretti, Santa Inés y Santo Tomás de Aquino cuando nos atormenten pensamientos de impureza. Invoquemos a San Charbel y Santa Faustina cuando nos distraigamos en la oración. Para combatir el orgullo, invoquemos a Santa Bernadette y Santa Solanus Casey. Cuando temamos a la muerte, invoquemos a los mártires San Maximiliano Kolbe y San Carlos Lwanga.

Hay millones de santos en las tres Iglesias esperando que les pidamos ayuda. ¡Hagámoslo!
