ANNOUNCEMENTS

We would like to thank all the communities of our parish who were present at our Church Festival this past Sunday. They had food sales stands and joined many of the events. Each community did its best to raise funds for our parish. May we continue to work together in harmony for the good of our parish and for the glory of God.

Catechism Corner by Kacey Carey, DRE

Is there a contradiction between faith and science? Our Catechism says no. "There is no insoluble contradiction between faith and science, because there cannot be two kinds of truth (CCC1590). There is only one truth, in which both faith and scientific reason refer. God intended reason, with which we can recognize the rational structures of the world, just as he intended faith. Faith exists so that we might know things that are not apparent to reason yet are real above and beyond reason. Faith reminds science that it is supposed to serve creation and not set itself up in place of God. Science must respect human dignity instead of violating it. As John Henry Newman says: "Faith by its very nature is the acceptance of a truth that our reason cannot attain; simply and unconditionally on the basis of testimony." As in John's Gospel, "No one has ever seen God; only the begotten Son, who is in the bosom of the Father, he has made him known" (John 1:18). Our Catechism further states that "is why we must believe Jesus, the Son of God, if we want to know what God would like to communicate to us. Believing therefore, means accepting Jesus and staking one's whole life on him."

"I would not believe if I did not realize that it is reasonable to believe." St. Thomas Aquinas

"To believe in a God means to realize that the facts of the world are not the whole story. To believe in a God means to realize that life has a meaning."

Ludwig Wittgenstein, Austrian philosopher

Rincón de Catecismo por Kacey Carey, DRE

¿Existe una contradicción entre la fe y la ciencia? Nuestro Catecismo dice que no. "No hay contradicción insoluble entre la fe y la ciencia, porque no puede haber dos clases de verdad (CCE 1590). Solo existe una verdad, a la que remiten tanto la fe como la razón científica. Dios quiso la razón —con la cual podemos reconocer las estructuras racionales del mundo— del mismo modo que quiso la fe. La fe existe para que podamos conocer cosas que no son evidentes para la razón, pero que son reales por encima y más allá de ella. La fe recuerda a la ciencia que debe servir a la creación y no erigirse en lugar de Dios. La ciencia debe respetar la dignidad humana en lugar de vulnerarla. Como dice John Henry Newman: «La fe, por su propia naturaleza, es la aceptación de una verdad que nuestra razón no puede alcanzar; simple e incondicionalmente, sobre la base del testimonio». Tal como se afirma en el Evangelio de Juan: "A Dios nadie le ha visto jamás; el Hijo unigénito, que está en el seno del Padre, él lo ha dado a conocer" (Juan 1, 18). Nuestro Catecismo añade que "por eso debemos creer en Jesús, el Hijo de Dios, si queremos saber lo que Dios desea comunicarnos. Creer, por tanto, significa aceptar a Jesús y confiarle toda nuestra vida".

"No creería si no comprendiera que es razonable creer". Santo Tomás de Aquino

"Creer en un Dios significa comprender que los hechos del mundo no son toda la historia. Creer en un Dios significa comprender que la vida tiene un sentido".

Ludwig Wittgenstein, filósofo Austriaco
