Director's Letter

March is an amazing time at the Preschool. Your children are growing and learning so much!

During the first week of March, we will celebrate literacy by exploring new books, authors, and characters. Guest readers will be visiting classrooms!

Reading aloud to children stimulates imagination and expands their understanding of the world around them. Reading aloud also exposes children to new and different vocabulary that is not used in everyday speech. Storybooks have the power to teach new words, actions, and concepts!

You may wonder why your child wants to hear the same book every night.

*Good news – repeated reading is one of the best ways to build early language and pre-reading skills!

Embrace the time when your child snuggles up with you and asks you to read a book "one more time!"
