

Hon. Kerryne Z James Biography:

Kerryne Zennelle James is a trailblazer whose story is rooted in resilience, service, and a passion for transformative leadership. From her earliest days, she has been driven by an unyielding commitment to her community, her country, and the ideals of progress and equity.

In 2018, at just 20 years old, Kerryne made history as the youngest individual appointed to Grenada's House of Senate and the Commonwealth of Nations, shattering barriers and setting an inspiring precedent for young women in leadership. Her tenure as a senator was marked by bold advocacy for legislative reforms, championing the voices of those often unheard, and steering the national agenda toward inclusive growth.

This pioneering spirit led her to become the youngest elected Member of Parliament in Grenada, proudly representing the people of St. John as their Parliamentary Representative. As the only female elected member of her party, she carries the torch of empowerment, showcasing the transformative power of women's leadership.

Today, as Grenada's Minister for Climate Resilience, the Environment, and Renewable Energy, Kerryne stands at the intersection of humanity's greatest challenges and opportunities. With a Bachelor of Science in Psychology, she brings a nuanced understanding of human behavior, societal dynamics, and environmental stewardship to her role. Her leadership drives innovative policies that address the climate crisis, promote renewable energy, and build resilience for future generations.

Beyond her titles and achievements, Kerryne's journey is a testament to the power of hope and hard work. She embodies the belief that no dream is too big and no challenge too daunting for those who are willing to rise and lead. Her story continues to inspire, reminding us all that the best chapters are yet unwritten.
