FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

WHAT IS PACK PROVISIONS?

Pack Provisions is a new line of dog food, treats and supplements from Field & Stream Pet Food Co. inspired by the outdoor heritage of Field & Stream. Just as Field & Stream has long equipped people for hunting, fishing and other outdoor activities, Pack Provisions is designed to fuel the dogs who share those adventures.

WHAT IS THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN PACK PROVISIONS, FIELD & STREAM PET FOOD CO., AND FIELD & STREAM?

Field & Stream Pet Food Co. is an independently owned and operated pet nutrition company affiliated with the relaunched Field & Stream media and lifestyle brand through a licensing agreement. Pack Provisions, developed by experts in canine nutrition to help active dogs thrive, is the pet food company's newly launched canine nutrition line.

HOW IS PACK PROVISIONS NUTRITION DESIGNED?

Pack Provisions foods are complete and balanced to meet or exceed standards set by the Association of American Feed Control Officials (AAFCO), but they go beyond the minimum. Dry and wet foods provide a strong nutritional foundation for all active dogs, while treats and supplements allow pet owners to "stack" additional support based on a dog's role, activity level or life stage. This flexibility helps active dogs thrive, since it puts the needs of the dog first.

DO ACTIVE AND WORKING DOGS HAVE DIFFERENT NUTRITIONAL NEEDS THAN OTHER PET DOGS?

Yes. Dogs with active lifestyles need targeted nutrition for energy metabolism, joint support, muscle recovery and digestive balance. Pack Provisions recipes are fortified with ingredients like L-carnitine to help active dogs burn fat efficiently, as well as pre-, pro-, and postbiotics for gut health. Supplements further meet specific performance and recovery needs, and treats aid in training and handling.

WHAT IS STACKED NUTRITION?

Stacked nutrition is Pack Provisions' approach to supporting dogs' needs at every stage of activity. Dry and wet foods provide a strong, complete nutritional foundation that meets or exceeds AAFCO guidelines. Owners can then "stack" on targeted support through treats and supplements, such as those for energy metabolism or joint health, to tailor nutrition to a dog's specific activity level or life stage.

CAN PACK PROVISIONS BE FED TO ANY DOG?

Yes. Pack Provisions dry and wet foods are formulated as complete and balanced diets that meet or exceed AAFCO guidelines. While the food is designed for active dogs, it will benefit any dog.

WHY DOES PACK PROVISIONS HIGHLIGHT ORGAN MEATS IN ITS RECIPES?

Organ meats are rich in essential amino acids, vitamins and minerals that support strong muscles and overall performance. They're also highly palatable, making the food appealing to dogs. Historically, organ meats have been a staple in working dog diets, from sled dogs to hunting companions. By featuring these nutrient-dense ingredients, Pack Provisions delivers superior nutrition while also supporting sustainability through whole-animal utilization.

WHAT DOES "GUIDE-RATED NUTRITION™" MEAN?

"Guide-rated" reflects the standard of excellence demanded by professional guides and outdoor enthusiasts, people who rely on their dogs in the toughest conditions. To be "guide-rated" means Pack Provisions is built to deliver reliable performance, trusted by those who hold their dogs to the highest expectations.

WHERE CAN PACK PROVISIONS PRODUCTS BE PURCHASED?

Pack Provisions will be available at Tractor Supply stores nationwide starting Nov. 3, 2025, as well as online at tractorsupply.com. Accessibility through Tractor Supply helps ensure that families and active dog owners can find Pack Provisions wherever the road or trail takes them.

BUSINESS/PROFESSIONAL

We welcome the opportunity to support you in developing the following story ideas or other angles you'd like to explore.

OUTDOOR HERITAGE MEETS PET NUTRITION

Field & Stream has been synonymous with trust, tradition and the great outdoors for a century and a half. Now, with the launch of Pack Provisions, the brand brings that same legacy to the pet aisle. This extension highlights how an iconic lifestyle brand has expanded into the premium pet food space while staying true to its roots.

CONSUMER TRENDS DRIVING THE LAUNCH

Active dogs are part of the family—and often part of family adventures. Pack Provisions meets the demand for a canine diet that fulfills active dogs' needs in a way that delivers premium nutrition and honors the bond between pets and their people. This angle dives into why now is the right time for this launch and how it taps into the ever-growing bond between active dogs and their humans.

ORGAN MEATS AS NATURE'S MULTIVITAMIN

Instead of dismissing organ meats as “byproducts,” Pack Provisions reframes them as concentrated, nutrient-rich ingredients. This story gives pet food industry insiders a new way to think about familiar ingredients and why they matter for dogs' health.

BEHIND THE BAG:

A NUTRITIONIST'S VIEW ON FEEDING ACTIVE DOGS

An inside look with a premium pet nutritionist on the different needs of active dogs—for example, how feeding an “off-season” companion differs from fueling a dog that’s working dawn to dusk. This story gives consumers a peek into the nuances of tailoring nutrition to activity.

A GUIDE'S PERSPECTIVE:

WHAT IT TAKES TO KEEP DOGS FIELD-READY

An award-winning hunting guide shares what he looks for in dog food: from energy balance and recovery to optics and coat quality. His hands-on experience gives pet owners a unique, real-world view of why performance nutrition matters.

HOW THE USE OF ORGAN MEATS HONORS THE WHOLE ANIMAL AND DRIVES SUSTAINABILITY

Pack Provisions leans into ingredients that have a rich tradition among conversationist purists. By utilizing organ meats—nutrient-dense, palatable, and historically fed to active dogs—the brand both honors tradition and makes a case for sustainability through whole-animal utilization.
