With Opened Bible

Fr. Dimitri

On this fifth Sunday of Easter, Jesus bestows upon us a new commandment: to love one another.

This commandment, though seemingly ancient in the context of the Law of Moses, carries a profound novelty. 'Take no revenge and cherish no grudge against your own people. You shall love your neighbor as yourself. I am the LORD.' (Leviticus 19:18) This commandment, however, is not limited by blood ties or citizenship. It is a universal call to love, embracing all of humanity.

It's all in the context. When it comes to the Bible, a text taken out of context can become a pretext.

According to the Law of Leviticus, love of neighbor was limited by blood ties. The neighbor I must love and protect is a citizen of my people. Moses gave the Law, but Israel in the flesh received it. Thus, loving one's neighbor went hand in hand with protecting one's compatriot. 'No grudge, no revenge against your own people.' That love was a close circle. But with Jesus, this circle of love expands, transcending all boundaries and becoming a universal concept.

However, Jesus came to save humanity, not just the Jews. The grace of the Gospel was given to all nations. (Let us recall the reception of the Gospel by the pagans in Acts 13:46.) Saint John confirms this universality of salvation when he declares, "God so loved the world (nations), he gave his only begotten Son." (John 3:16) By loving the whole world, Jesus' new commandment becomes a universal commandment.

From now on, he who loves must be able to love everyone without discrimination. According to Gospel criteria, love of neighbor goes beyond boundaries of race, color, language, or religion. We have, for example, the Good Samaritan who comes to the aid of a man who does not love him because of his Samaritan origins. (Cf. Luke 10:25-37) Love knows no bounds. It is catholic, that is, universal. This is the challenge that Jesus presents to us, to love without discrimination, to love as He loves.

Let us be Catholic like the love of Christ to evangelize and save all humanity.

Disciples Love One Another

"This is how all will know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another." (John 13:35)

Flight attendants begin each flight with safety announcements, including instructions to put on your oxygen mask first before helping others do the same in an emergency. It's not a selfish act; it's essential and practical.

Could showing love to others in our faith communities be likened to that procedure? Can we work on loving each other there first so that we are able to witness effectively to others that our God is love?

Jesus, you command us to love as you love. Give us this day the determination to be generous in our relationships with fellow parishioners.

CATHOLIC COMMUNICATION CAMPAIGN

Supporting the Catholic Communications Campaign provides a unique opportunity to help your neighbors and people across the country connect with Christ.

When you contribute to this campaign, half of all money received goes to support the national communication programs of the bishops of the United States, while the other half stays right in our own diocese to support local communication initiatives.

Effective social media outreach is essential for any communications strategy, especially in being able to share the Gospel with the world. Social media trends continually evolve, and dynamic content such as short videos are becoming more popular than graphics and photos to engage people online.

There will be a 2nd Collection at all Masses the weekend of June 1st.

Strangeness of Truth-Vibrant—Faith In A Dark World

By Father Damian Ference

In an age of loneliness and distraction, it is easy to forget that God is present in our daily lives. Father Ference shows the reader ways that our everyday lives point us to the mystery of who God is and what He has done for us.

Father Ference points to the strange and mundane experiences that make up our everyday lives and awakens the reader to the radical truths that surround them: that God holds the world in existence, that He became man, and that He sacrificed Himself for us. This book is a perfect gift for someone who is considering conversion to the Catholic faith, or anyone who wishes to deepen their relationship with God.

O Jesus, Eternal Priest, keep your priests within the shelter of Your Most Sacred Heart, where none can touch them. Keep unstained their anointed hands which daily touch Your sacred body. Keep unsullied their lips daily tinged with Your precious Blood. Keep pure and unworldly their hearts, sealed with the sublime mark of the priesthood. Let Your holy love surround and protect them from the world's contagion. Bless their labors with abundant fruit, and may the souls to whom they minister be their joy and consolation here, and their everlasting crown in eternity.
