

Easter's Light
Today, We Return to the Present.

Easter

Easter marks a gentle return. A quiet turning toward light as the days lengthen and the earth begins to stir again.

It is a time of renewal, growth, and new beginnings. Not forced or hurried, but unfolding in its own time. In nature, nothing blooms all at once. Life begins quietly beneath the surface, before it is ever seen. This season reminds us that we, too, are allowed to begin again softly and without pressure.

As light returns, so does warmth, possibility, and the quiet sense that something within us is ready to awaken.

Suggested Easter Ritual

You may do this alone, in a quiet moment to yourself:

Create a small space of calm. Place something natural before you – a flower, a branch, or simply this artwork. Light a candle if you wish. Sit in stillness and breathe gently.

Bring your awareness to your heart. Imagine a soft, warm light there. Steady. Quiet. Always present. Ask yourself, without needing an answer: What feels ready to begin again within me?

Place a hand on your chest and feel your breath. Allow a simple intention to form. Not a goal. Not a demand. Just a gentle direction.

If you wish, read these words aloud:

*Today, I welcome gentle renewal. I honour where I have been, and I allow myself to begin again.
I trust in small beginnings.
I trust in quiet growth.
I trust in the light within me.*

A Easter Affirmation

*I begin again with softness.
I move forward with trust.
I am guided by light and renewal.*

Take time to sit with this moment. Notice what shifts, even slightly. A feeling. A breath. A sense of calm.

When you are ready, gently return to your day with intention.

Carry this quiet energy forward.

May the light return to you in gentle ways and may each small beginning lead you exactly where you are meant to be.

ELDARA be the light

Today, the light returns and the quiet earth awakens.

We gather in stillness and presence, welcoming warmth, soft beginnings,
honouring what is ready to grow with openness and gentle trust.

In every breath of spring air,
in every moment of light,
in every quiet step forward,
something within us begins again.

May this light guide us forward through each new beginning, and may growth be the path
that gently leads us home.

Blessed Easter
