

WINNING ROLL

He dropped a long, fist-pumping birdie putt on the 16th hole, giving him the lead for good. Then another from over 13 feet on 17, and one more from over 17 feet for emphasis on the home hole. With that, Wyndham Clark raised his Scottsdale TEC Ally Blue Onset putter in celebration at the BMW Championship, his third title this season with the model.

It was more of the clutch putting we've seen from Clark since the putter went in his bag this spring, helping to spark a resurgence in his putting – and his career.

Wyndham Clark is pumped after his go-ahead birdie on 16 with his Scottsdale TEC Ally Blue Onset.

4 HEADED TO FEDEX FINAL

Clark is one of four PING pros competing at this week's Tour Championship, where a FedExCup Champion will be crowned.

CORPUZ, COUGHLIN JOIN U.S. SOLHEIM CUP TEAM

Allisen Corpuz on Sunday secured the final automatic qualifying spot on Captain Angela Stanford's U.S. Solheim Cup team, following the CPKC Women's Open. Corpuz joins Lauren Coughlin, who clinched the previous week, and Jennifer Kupcho.

Corpuz brings a 5-2-1 record to her third Solheim Cup, where she is a perfect 4-0-0 in foursomes.

Like Corpuz, Coughlin was a standout for the winning U.S. team in 2024, going 3-0-1 in her first time at the prestigious competition.

The 20th playing of the Solheim Cup is Sept. 11-13 in The Netherlands.

PING
WEEK

With every big shot in the biggest moments, every critical putt made with his Scottsdale TEC Ally Blue Onset putter, and with every win, Wyndham Clark's popularity continues to grow, like above at the BMW Championship. His third win of the season Sunday pushed him to fifth in the world golf ranking and earned him an automatic spot on the U.S. Presidents Cup team for a second time.

Kris Reitan

ADVANCING TO ATLANTA

PING is well-situated with four staffers competing at this week's Tour Championship at East Lake Golf Club in Atlanta.

Wyndham Clark is the talk of the Tour after his three-shot win at the BMW Championship on Sunday.

Viktor Hovland heads to his seventh straight Tour Championship, having never missed the event since earning PGA Tour membership.

One of only two rookies in Atlanta, Kris Reitan continues to impress after winning his first PGA Tour title this season.

Alex Smalley makes his Tour Championship debut, building off good results at the FedEx St. Jude and BMW Championship.

All 30 in this week's field automatically qualify for all four majors next season, as well as Signature Events.

99 G440 DRIVER WINS

A G440 LST driver was in the winner's bag at LIV Golf Indianapolis.

That makes eight wins for G440 models this month, six with LST, two with G440 MAX.

The next win with a G440 driver will bring that family to 100 victories worldwide.
