Saints Peter & Paul Parish

Honoring Octogenarians as “The Foundation Upon Which This Parish Stands”

Saints Peter and Paul Parish in Turnersville celebrated, praised, and honored over forty parishioners who have reached 80 years of age and beyond. Upon their arrival at Mass, each octogenarian was greeted by a member of the Faith In Action team, presented with a beautiful flower, and then personally escorted to a seat. Parishioners filled the church wishing to offer thanks and support to the guests of honor.

Father Yvans Jazon, parish pastor, told the assembly, “We know that as the years pass, there may be things that are more difficult to do than they once were. Perhaps you cannot come to church as often as you used to. Perhaps you could not participate in parish activities in the same way you did 20 or 30 years ago, perhaps your strength is not what it once was. But please never think that because you cannot do everything you used to, you are less important to this community. You are part of the foundation upon which this parish stands.”

After Mass concluded, the honored guests, accompanied by spouses and caregivers, assembled in the Parish Center for lunch, music, and an opportunity to share stories and memories. One parishioner was heard saying to a friend, “This is such an honor. The room looks like a ballroom. It’s like a wedding. I’ve never felt so appreciated.” Father Jazon concluded his remarks by telling the assembly, “For many years you have prayed here. You have worshiped here. You have supported this church. You have volunteered, sacrificed, encouraged others, raised your children and grandchildren in the faith, and helped build the community that we enjoy today. Now it is our turn to say thank you. Thank you for your faith. Thank you for your sacrifices. Thank you for your prayers. Thank you for supporting this parish community. And above all thank you for the example you continue to give. We pray that the Lord will continue to bless you, strengthen you, and give you good health and peace. To all of you whom we honor today, I want you to hear something very clearly from your parish family; we love you, we appreciate you, and we thank God for you.”

Message of the Week

Reflection for the Twenty-Fifth Sunday in Ordinary Time, Cycle A

The Generous Heart of God

“That’s not fair!” We learn those words early. Children say them when a sibling receives the larger slice of cake. Teenagers say them when someone else gets credit for the group project. Adults may think them when a coworker is praised, a neighbor seems unusually fortunate, or another person receives help that we have struggled without. Our sense of fairness matters; it can protect people from injustice. Yet today’s Gospel invites us to discover that God’s goodness is greater than the careful calculations by which we measure what everyone deserves.

Jesus tells of a landowner who goes out at dawn to hire laborers for his vineyard. He returns again at nine, noon, three, and even five o’clock, which is almost the end of the workday. When evening comes, each worker receives the same daily wage. Those who worked since sunrise grumble. They are not underpaid; the landowner gives them exactly what he promised. Still, they resent his generosity to the latecomers. The landowner answers, “Are you envious because I am generous?”

The vineyard is the life of God’s Kingdom, and the landowner’s repeated trips reveal a God who never tires of seeking us. Some encounter Christ in childhood and spend many years serving faithfully. Others return to the Church after decades away. Some discover God’s mercy in a hospital room, at a funeral, during recovery, or in the final season of life. The hour may differ, but the invitation is the same: “You too go into my vineyard.” No one is forgotten, and a sincere “yes” never comes too late.

The equal wage is not a lesson about business payroll. It points to God’s loving grace. We don’t earn it and we certainly don’t deserve it. But in it He offers us friendship, forgiveness, belonging in Christ, and the gift of eternal life. Grace cannot be divided into larger and smaller portions as though long service made God our debtor. Everything begins with God’s initiative. Even our ability to pray, serve, persevere, and love is already a gift.

This parable asks us to notice what “comparison” does to our heart. The first workers can no longer rejoice in their own wage because they are watching what others receive. We can do the same in our own life. We may wonder why someone newer is asked to lead, why another person receives more attention, or why a person with a complicated past is welcomed so warmly. But the Church is not a waiting room where the longest wait earns the greatest love. It is a family gathered by mercy. Another person’s blessing does not diminish ours.

For children, this Gospel can mean learning to celebrate when someone else is included. For young people, it can mean refusing to measure worth by popularity, grades, or achievements. For adults, it may mean welcoming a new coworker without judging their value. For older parishioners, it may mean trusting that years of quiet faithfulness have not been overlooked, while rejoicing when a younger generation takes its place in God’s vineyard. Every age has work to do, and every age has grace to receive.

This week, ask yourself, “Whose good fortune is difficult for me to celebrate? Do I secretly believe God owes me because I have tried to be faithful? Is there someone I have considered too late, too different, or too unworthy to belong?” At every Eucharist, Christ gathers lifelong disciples and recent arrivals at one table. None of us buys a place there. We come with empty hands, and all receive the same Lord. The Eucharist inspires us to live without envy: to give thanks for mercy, to welcome the latecomer, and to labor joyfully for the good of all. God’s generosity is not unfair; it is our hope. If God gave only what we deserved, who could stand? Instead, God gives himself.

Blessings,
Deacon Anthony
