LEGACY POINT OASIS

Veteran Wellness & Community Center

A proposed wellness and community center in Guyana for U.S. military veterans of all branches.

The idea

Legacy Point Oasis (LPO) is planned as an oasis of gardens, shaded paths, water and quiet spaces where veterans can work out, relax, share a meal, join a workshop, explore Guyana with a local guide, or stay for a while. It was founded by a Guyanese American U.S. Navy veteran and welcomes every U.S. veteran. To our knowledge, it would be the only center in Guyana dedicated to U.S. veterans.

What it will offer

- Gardens and an open-air meditation pavilion, with voluntary Raj Yoga open to any belief
- Clubhouse, café and lounge
- Indoor gym, sauna, steam room and cold plunge
- Studio for workshops and gentle movement
- Villas for stays from three days to a month or more
- A care desk that helps veterans find licensed providers in Guyana
- Later stage: golf driving range and simulators, tennis and badminton

How it works

- Wellness, not medicine. LPO does not diagnose or treat; its care desk connects veterans with licensed Guyanese providers.
- Stays, not sales. Villas are rented to visiting veterans, not sold.
- Local partners. Outings run by licensed Guyanese tour operators; food and services bought locally.
- Accessible. Step-free routes, accessible changing rooms and villas, seated options.
- Built in stages. Core spaces open first; sports facilities follow.

What it brings to Guyana

- Local jobs in hospitality, grounds, wellness, transport and administration
- Steady business for tour operators, guides, farms, suppliers and licensed healthcare providers
- Visitors who stay longer and spend locally, and stronger ties with Guyanese Americans who served

Where things stand

- An online feedback pilot is gathering input from veterans to shape the design.
- A suitable site in Guyana is being sought with the guidance of the relevant authorities.
- A nonprofit model is being considered, with funding from foundations, grants, diaspora giving and sponsorships.
