

OKNA Windows Update

Insul-Tec (500) Series Brochure Re-Branding

December 18, 2023

Dear Valued Customer,

OKNA Windows continues to aim for new ways to improve our services and reflect our commitment to customer satisfaction. We have been striving to make frequently requested information easily accessible to facilitate relations between our team, our dealers, and homeowners.

With our recent re-branding journey that started back in September of this year, our dedicated Marketing Team continues to work diligently to update materials in order to provide your team with up to date information reflecting this change. Our Marketing Team is currently in the midst of reprinting brochures and is working to supply your teams with physical copies as they arrive.

On the attached flyer we have supplied QR codes for the digital versions of our Insul-Tec (500) Series brochure and performance sheets on our website. We hope that these will be useful in showrooms or during home visits for quick access to the digital versions as needed.

If you choose to provide any OKNA Windows brochures or performance sheets on your website you must use links directing viewers to our website in place of PDF versions. We would like to stress the importance of providing customers with updated information, both in person and electronically. With this, it will allow ease on your team as our website will always reflect updated information and your team will not have to manually update it.

As a reminder, OKNA windows will complete orders based on testing and product information displayed in the most current marketing materials, including, but not limited to, our brochure printed at the time the order is placed. OKNA Windows is not responsible for misrepresentation due to the use of outdated marketing materials.

If you need assistance with links or have questions on how to provide such materials on your website, please do not hesitate to reach out to our Marketing Department. If you have any further questions, please reach out to your territory sales representative.
