There is only one Southern Baptist church for every 20,000 people in the Denver metro area. The need for planting new churches is vital in the areas between the urban core and the suburbs, which have been called “The Forgotten Region.” Young adults are flocking to these places to take advantage of Denver’s resources, which gives the church a unique opportunity to connect and build community. We will be staying in Denver for seven weeks, working with NAMB's network of local church partners to fulfill the Kingdom's mission of evangelism, discipleship, healthy church planting, and leadership development.
