

Carveth Village

Laura introduced us to a whole new way to craft with wood. She was able to carve a variety of spring scenes into wood and allow our residents to fill in the rest. Check out the finished pieces on Facebook!

April's outing brought us to the Hastings Pizza Hut. Everyone was so accommodating and kind. Thank you to all the friends and family who helped create this fantastic experience.

Thank you TKHS for letting us be a part of the students' service day. They worked, played, and helped with nothing but positive attitudes!

Spring is here! Which makes for a great time of year to visit loved ones and ensure their room is clutter free, update their wardrobe so they have appropriate clothing to accommodate fluctuating weather, and clean out old holiday decorations, papers, and boxes so they aren't stock piling in closets. We all know how great it feels to have a clean and organized space and we are grateful to families who help us achieve this atmosphere!

Monday May 25

Memorial Day, (last Monday in May), honors those who have died while serving in the country's armed forces. It originated during the American Civil War when citizens placed flowers on the graves of those who had been killed in battle. The first national observance was in 1868. After World War I, the name was changed to Memorial Day, and in 1971 it became a federal holiday. The day is observed by visits to cemeteries, where flags and other items are placed on the graves of veterans.

- 1. "I'm not interested in who started it." - Even if we were, in fact, interested, we're tired and just don't have the energy for a drama-filled kid-said-other-kid-said discussion. Just stop it because we said so.
- 2. "Don't come crying to me if you get hurt." - They will. And we will tend to their wounds. Every time.
- 3. "Because I said so." - This is possibly the original momism and a red flag that the discussion better be over or else.
- 4. "I'm going to count to three." - Kids know it's serious when moms start to count out loud. But our threats diminish when we throw in fractions: "1, 2, 2 and a half, 2 and three quarters..."
- 5. "If I've told you once, I've told you a thousand times." - We have, in fact, told them a thousand times, and we will tell them a thousand more. That's kid math.

"The Cost of Freedom"
Freedom rings because they fought,
A price so high, yet never bought.
They stood in courage, hearts so true,
With a strength that only heroes knew.
They left behind their dreams, their lives,
So liberty could still survive.
Their voices echo in the air,
Reminding us how much they cared.
So, on this day, we bow and pray,
For those who gave their lives away.

FUNO JOKES

An elderly couple were at home watching TV. Phil had the remote and was switching back and forth between a fishing channel and the porn channel.

Sally became more and more annoyed and finally said, "For God's sake, Phil... leave it on the porn channel... you know how to fish!"

An elderly woman was very ill, and in the hospital. Her daughter was constantly by her bedside, but when she had to go to work, she called her husband and made him promise he would visit his mother-in-law while she was away.

When she came home she asked her husband, "So, how's my mom doing?"

"She's great!" he replied. "She will be released from the hospital any day now and will move in with us when she's released!"

"Wow! That's amazing!" the wife says. "Before I left the hospital, she seemed very ill, and the doctors said she may only have a few days left. Did she have a miraculous recovery?"

"Well, I don't know about that," replied the husband. "But today, the doctor told me that we needed to start preparing for the worst!"

It's the spring of 1961; Bobby goes to pick up his date. When he gets to the door, the girl's father invites him in.

"Carrie is not ready yet, so why don't you have a seat?" he says. Carrie's father then asks Bobby what they plan to do.

"Probably just go to the soda shop or a movie."

Carrie's father responds, "Why don't you two go out and screw? I hear all the kids are doing it. Carrie really likes to screw - she'd screw all night if we let her."

Well, this makes Bobby's eyes light up, and his plans for the evening begin to look pretty good. A few minutes later, Carrie comes downstairs in her poodle skirt and announces that she's ready to go. Breathless with anticipation, Bobby escorts Carrie out the front door. About 20 minutes later, Carrie rushes back into the house, slams the door behind her and screams at her father, "Dammit, Daddy! It's called the twist!"

An elderly woman is reminiscing at the incredible progress in medicine! When I was younger, all the doctors were telling me to get undressed, now it's enough for me to show my tongue!
