A Letter from the President & CEO

There's something about LaGrange County that makes you pause and take it all in. Whether it's the sunlight spilling over the cornfields, the quiet of a country road, or the friendly wave of a neighbor passing by, life here has a rhythm all its own. It's a place where everyday moments — simple, ordinary, yet full of meaning — remind us why this community is so special.

Whether you've called LaGrange County home for generations or you're just beginning to explore what it has to offer, there's something here for everyone. Our towns are filled with thriving local businesses, our countryside is dotted with family farms and historic landmarks, and our lakes, rivers, and trails provide space to play, reflect, and reconnect with nature. Every day, there's an opportunity to see, experience, and appreciate the unique life that unfolds here.

At the Chamber, our mission is simple: to foster community connection and drive business success. That means helping businesses grow, supporting our workforce, and connecting residents and newcomers alike to the resources, people, and experiences that make LaGrange County shine. From our Student Chamber programs that prepare the next generation, to our Coffee with the County forums, and community events that bring neighbors together, we are here to create opportunities for everyone to thrive.

So, consider this a personal invitation. Slow down, explore your surroundings, and celebrate the people and places that make this county home. Visit a local business, take a walk along a trail, attend a community gathering, or simply take a moment to behold the quiet beauty of a sunset over our farmland. There's something extraordinary in the ordinary here — and it's waiting for you to notice it.

We're proud of the community we serve, and even prouder to welcome new friends, families, and businesses into the fold. Take part, get involved, and let yourself be part of the story of LaGrange County — because the best way to love this place is to experience it, share it, and enjoy it.

With warmth and gratitude,

Sara Patrick

Growing Talent: Preparing a Workforce for Every Path

LaGrange County is committed to building a Next-Level Workforce — one that is skilled, adaptable, and prepared for the opportunities ahead, no matter a resident's age, background, or educational path. Workforce development in the county goes beyond high school graduation; it encompasses programs and partnerships that all in the community have opportunities to contribute and thrive.

Indiana's new high school diploma requirements, which take effect with the Class of 2029, place a stronger focus on real-world skills, hands-on experiences, and career readiness. Students will be expected to demonstrate readiness for work, college, or the military through meaningful projects and experiences, not just course credits. Programs like the Student Chamber provide juniors and seniors with leadership training, mentorship, and exposure to local businesses, helping students gain practical skills, professional

Nearly half of LaGrange County residents complete formal education at or after 8th grade, whether through one-room Amish schoolhouses or public education programs. For these residents, continued learning and career readiness come through alternative pathways.

The Chamber connects members and residents with Glen Oaks Community College, Ivy Tech Community College, IMPACT, and Freedom Academy, offering training, certifications, and skill development for adults seeking new opportunities or advancement in their current roles.

Inclusive employment is another critical part of workforce development. Partnerships with The Arc of LaGrange County provide meaningful work experiences for individuals with disabilities, equipping them with skills and integrating them into the county's workforce. These initiatives ensure that every resident, regardless of ability, can participate in and contribute to the local economy.

Impact Stories: Growing Talent in Action

Chamber Student Intern

Through the Student Chamber program, the LaGrange County Chamber connected with a high school student, Morgan, who has become a vital part of the Chamber team as a marketing and business administration intern. She leads projects in digital marketing, social media campaigns, and the monthly newsletter, gaining hands-on experience in content creation, analytics, and audience engagement. In addition, she is exploring sales and customer service through membership relations and general office operations. This internship provides her with practical skills in multiple areas of business while giving the Chamber fresh energy and ideas. It's a true example of how educational programs and business partnerships create real opportunities for students to grow, contribute, and prepare for future careers.

strating the impact of partnerships between The Arc, local employers, and the Chamber.

The Arc – Inclusive Employment

LaGrange County's workforce initiatives also focus on creating opportunities for individuals with disabilities. Through the Chamber's Willing to Work Tours and Job Club presentations in partnership with the Arc, participants gain insight into workplace expectations, employability skills, and professional development. One participant, Billy, has flourished through these programs and now works at the county's Council on Aging. Billy has developed time and task management skills, grown his confidence in customer-facing roles, and built meaningful connections through community employment. His story illustrates how inclusive workforce initiatives strengthen both the individual and the community, while demonstrating the impact of partnerships between The Arc, local employers, and the Chamber.

These stories together show the breadth of Next-Level Workforce in action — from high school students gaining professional experience to adults building skills and confidence in inclusive employment settings. Both efforts contribute to a workforce that is skilled, diverse, and connected to the community.

The impact of these programs is evident when considering broader workforce needs: in Indiana, about 58% of jobs require postsecondary training, yet only 48% of residents currently meet that benchmark. By connecting students, adults, and individuals with disabilities to education, training, and career opportunities, LaGrange County is working to close that gap and prepare a workforce ready for both today's and tomorrow's challenges.

Next-Level Workforce Vision in Action

The Chamber's Next-Level Workforce strategic pillar guides this approach. It is about more than programs — it is a countywide commitment to ensure every resident has access to education, skills development, and meaningful work. Through initiatives like the Student Chamber, adult learning partnerships, and inclusive employment programs with The Arc, LaGrange County is cultivating a workforce that supports local businesses, strengthens the community, and drives economic prosperity for years to come.

By the Numbers

- Indiana's Class of 2029: first under new diploma requirements
- 58% of Indiana jobs require postsecondary training
- 48% of Hoosiers currently meet that benchmark
- Half of LaGrange County residents complete formal education after 8th grade
- Local partnerships: Glen Oaks Community College, Ivy Tech Community College, IMPACT, Freedom Academy, The Arc of Northeast Indiana

ConnectHER Conference

The ConnectHER Conference was born out of a shift going on right here in LaGrange County. As more women stepped into leadership roles and a new wave of professionals began taking the baton from retiring boomers, a natural need for community, mentorship, and shared experience emerged. ConnectHER became the answer—a space where women professionals can connect, learn, and lead together.

help women thrive in their work and communities.

The ConnectHER movement continues with our Woman2Woman Roundtable, a quarterly woman-focused series. These smaller, more personal gatherings offer women professionals a place to dig deeper—sharing experiences, exchanging ideas, and supporting one another in real time. Whether it's tackling leadership challenges, discussing work-life balance, or celebrating hard-won successes, Woman2Woman builds lasting connections that strengthen the fabric of our local workforce.

Together, the ConnectHER Conference and the Woman2Woman Roundtables reflect the Chamber's commitment to elevating leadership, fostering belonging, and creating pathways for women to succeed—right here in LaGrange County.

Small Business Workshop

The Small Business Workshop was created with a simple but powerful purpose: to give local entrepreneurs access to high-quality, affordable, and practical business training—right here at home. In a county where small businesses and family-owned operations are the backbone of the economy, this annual event has become a trusted space to learn, connect, and grow together.

One of the most meaningful elements of the workshop is how it reflects the unique fabric of LaGrange County itself—bringing together both Amish and non-Amish entrepreneurs under one roof. This collaboration mirrors everyday life here, where innovation and tradition work hand in hand.

It's a place where different perspectives meet, where practical know-how is shared, and where lasting relationships are built between business owners who might not otherwise cross paths.

The day is intentionally designed to balance inspiration and action. Keynote speakers set the tone with messages that spark vision and fresh thinking, while TED Talk-style presentations deliver quick, powerful insights that business owners can apply right away. Between sessions, peer roundtables offer a chance for attendees to learn from each other—sharing lessons, challenges, and real-world solutions that only come from walking the same road.

And at the Business Resource Fair, local and regional partners—from insurance providers to consultants, marketing specialists to bookkeeping services—line the room, ready to connect entrepreneurs with the tools and expertise they need to succeed.

In many ways, the Small Business Workshop embodies the spirit of LaGrange County: entrepreneurial, collaborative, and community-minded. It's not just an event—it's an investment in the future of the local business community.

Chamber Chat Podcast: Sharing the Stories That Make LaGrange County Shine

At the LaGrange County Chamber of Commerce, we believe that every business, organization, and individual has a story that contributes to the heartbeat of our community. The Chamber Chat Podcast was created to capture those stories, giving listeners an inside look at the people and passions driving LaGrange County forward.

Through authentic, conversational interviews, the Chamber Chat Podcast shines a light on the entrepreneurs, educators, community leaders, and everyday residents who make LaGrange County special. Each episode offers something new—a glimpse into a local business journey, an inspiring nonprofit mission, or a look behind the scenes of a Chamber initiative or community event.

Our goal is simple: to celebrate and strengthen the connections that make LaGrange County a thriving place to live, work, and do business. By sharing these stories, we hope to inspire collaboration, spark ideas, and remind listeners that community progress begins with people coming together.

Recent episodes have highlighted everything from small business innovation and local workforce development to the efforts of nonprofits addressing real needs in our county. We've sat down with local leaders like State Representative Tony Isa and business owners who are creating opportunities right here at home. Each story reinforces the Chamber's vision to be a champion of generational prosperity in LaGrange County.

Host Sara

But the Chamber Chat is about more than just interviews; it's about connection. It's about giving voice to the people behind the storefronts, the volunteers behind the programs, and the dreamers behind the ideas shaping our community's future. Whether listeners tune in to learn, be inspired, or simply hear familiar names and stories, every episode reminds us of the strength found in our shared purpose.

The Chamber invites everyone, members, residents, and friends of LaGrange County, to join us on this journey of storytelling and discovery. Together, we can continue to build a stronger, more connected community, one conversation at a time.

Listen to Chamber Chat on Spotify, Apple Podcasts, or at lagrangechamber.org/chamberchat and hear the stories that make LaGrange County shine.

Investing in Progress: Why Policy Matters in LaGrange County

When we talk about policy, it can feel far away—something that happens in Indianapolis or Washington, D.C., in rooms filled with lawmakers and lobbyists. But the truth is, those decisions show up in our everyday lives right here in LaGrange County.

Take childcare, for example. For many parents, finding affordable, high-quality childcare isn't just a personal challenge; it's an economic one. Businesses feel the pinch when employees can't come to work because there aren't enough childcare options. That's not just a family issue—it's a workforce issue, and it's shaped by policies at the state and federal level.

That's why the Chamber has a seat at the table. Locally, we are part of Thrive by 5, the early learning coalition working across LaGrange and Noble Counties to improve access, affordability, and quality of childcare. Regionally, we work alongside the Regional Chamber of Northeast Indiana, which advocates on behalf of businesses across 11 counties. Statewide, our partnership with the Indiana Chamber of Commerce ensures that rural voices like ours are heard in policy debates that often lean toward urban priorities.

Indiana Secretary of State, Diego Morales

We also keep close ties with the elected officials who

260-463-2443

2026 LaGrange County Chamber Business Directory

represent us at every level. Locally, that means partnering with District 51 State Representative Tony Isa and District 13 State Senator Sue Glick. On the federal side, we stay connected with Congressman Marlin Stutzman (3rd District) and U.S. Senators Todd Young and Jim Banks. These relationships allow us to share the concerns of our business community and ensure LaGrange County is part of the bigger conversation.

But advocacy isn't just the Chamber's job—it's a community effort. That's why we provide tools to help residents stay informed and engaged:

- Our annual Voter Guide helps citizens learn about candidates and ballot issues in plain language.
- Coffee with the County, our quarterly forum series, brings elected officials and policy experts face-to-face with residents and businesses.
- Our "Chamber Chat" podcast and weekly LaGrange Standard column highlight policy issues in real time, breaking them down in ways that connect to local life.

At the end of the day, progress doesn't just happen—it's invested in. When our businesses, residents, and leaders work together to advocate, vote, and participate, we shape the kind of county we want to live and work in. Policy may start far away, but it lands right here at home. And when LaGrange County shows up, we make sure our hometown is never left out of the story.

Power of the Purse:

A Community United to End Food Insecurity

Each year, the LaGrange County Chamber of Commerce hosts one of the most meaningful and impactful events in our community—the Power of the Purse. What began in 2010 as a small fundraiser has grown into a countywide movement, bringing together businesses, organizations, and individuals to help fight food insecurity among local students.

The mission behind the event is simple yet powerful: to ensure that no child in LaGrange County goes hungry. The funds raised through the Power of the Purse directly support the backpack programs in all three LaGrange County school corporations—Lakeland, Prairie Heights, and Westview. These programs provide meals and snacks for students in need to take home over weekends and holiday breaks, ensuring they have access to nourishment when school meals aren't available.

Each school corporation partners with organizations like Boomerang Backpacks and the Community Harvest Food Bank to deliver these vital resources. Through these partnerships, local schools are able to provide consistent and reliable food support to children who need it most.

Thanks to the generosity of our community, the Power of the Purse has raised more than $300,000 since its inception, with every dollar invested right back into LaGrange County to help those in need. The funds raised have directly impacted countless families, providing comfort and stability while strengthening the bonds of compassion within our community.

The event itself is a celebration of giving and connection. Attendees enjoy an evening of fun, community, and purpose, featuring both live and silent auctions filled with items and experiences donated by local businesses and individuals. Each bid made and each donation given represents a collective commitment to care for our neighbors and uplift the next generation.

At its heart, the Power of the Purse is about more than just fundraising—it's about community.

It's a reflection of what makes LaGrange County extraordinary: people coming together to make a difference for our community.

As the Chamber continues to grow this event, we invite you to be part of the story. Whether by donating an item, sponsoring the event, or attending the auction, every contribution helps create lasting change. Together, we can continue to fight food insecurity and ensure that every child in LaGrange County has the nourishment they need to learn, grow, and thrive.

Join us in making an impact.

Field of Dreams Career Expo

"If we build it, they will come."

Inspired by the iconic film, our Field of Dreams Career Expo was created with a clear purpose: to open doors of possibility for local students and help them imagine a future right here in LaGrange County. This annual, baseball-themed event brings together local employers, hands-on demonstrations, and interactive career experiences that help students connect what they love to do with what's available in their own backyard.

Our first year set the tone for just how impactful this event could be. A student approached us with confidence—and a touch of smugness—explaining that he dreamed of becoming a professional actor but didn't see how that was possible in LaGrange County. We simply pointed him to Blue Gate Hospitality, home to live musical productions at the Blue Gate Music Hall. In that moment, you could almost see the light switch flip. His expression shifted from skepticism to realization: he didn't have to leave to chase his dream—he could build it here.

That story has stayed with us because it perfectly captures what Field of Dreams is all about. It's not just a career fair; it's a gateway of possibilities. It's where students get to meet real employers, touch real tools, and see real opportunities that align with their passions—from advanced manufacturing to agriculture, hospitality to healthcare, creative arts to public service.

The event is intentionally hands-on, allowing students to experience career pathways, not just hear about them. Employers, in turn, have the chance to invest in the next generation—to spark curiosity, mentor future talent, and build relationships with the young people who may one day lead their businesses and communities.

Field of Dreams is more than an event—it's a bridge. A bridge between classroom learning and real-world careers, between student dreams and hometown opportunities, and between today's workforce and tomorrow's leaders.

Building Business:

Strengthening Local Commerce

LaGrange County's businesses are the backbone of the community. Every dollar spent locally supports jobs, schools, infrastructure, and public services, creating a ripple effect that strengthens the entire county. Shopping local is more than a choice — it's an investment in the people and businesses that make LaGrange County thrive.

The county is home to a diverse and robust economy. Manufacturing is the largest sector, employing roughly 9,000 people (36% of all jobs) and generating over $1.46 billion in goods-producing GDP in 2023. Key outputs include recreational vehicles, modular homes, metal and machinery parts, and furniture/wood products. LaGrange and Elkhart Counties have earned the nickname "the RV capital of the world," and the woodworking and furniture sector is a notable pillar, with over 90 Amish-owned shops producing high-quality custom furniture, cabinetry, and wood products. In 2018, these shops reported nearly $192 million in gross sales and employed more than 930 people, highlighting the economic importance of this heritage craft.

Agriculture is another cornerstone of the county's economy. Nearly 2,500 farms span 194,000 acres, producing $494 million in farm products in 2022 — a 79% increase since 2017. Livestock and poultry account for 79% of farm sales, with LaGrange County ranking #1 in Indiana for cattle/beef ($75.5 million) and horses ($15.8 million), and #3 for poultry and eggs ($231.9 million). Many of these farms are small, family-run operations, averaging 78 acres, which contributes to the county's rural character and multi-generational community identity.

Tourism, particularly Amish-country and outdoor recreation, is a growing service sector. Anchored by Shipshewana, the county welcomes over 2 million visitors annually, generating $253.9 million in economic impact and supporting nearly 2,000 tourism-related jobs. Natural assets — including 67 lakes, county parks, state wildlife areas, and rivers — draw visitors year-round and enhance the quality of life for residents.

Other important sectors include construction, retail, transportation, and logistics, which support both the local population and broader industry growth. About 1,430 construction jobs (5.7% of total employment) and 2,200 retail jobs (8.7%) help sustain communities while ensuring homes, businesses, and roads continue to develop.

The Chamber works to connect, support, and advocate for local businesses. From educational and networking events to business savings programs, the Chamber provides tools and resources for family-run shops, manufacturers, and service providers alike. By fostering business-to-business connections, highlighting local commerce, and promoting the value of shopping and staying local, the Chamber ensures LaGrange County continues to thrive.

LaGrange County's economy is a vibrant ecosystem, rooted in tradition yet forward-looking. Each local purchase, business partnership, and investment contributes to sustaining jobs, preserving heritage, and driving prosperity for generations. The county's industries — from RV manufacturing to small Amish woodshops, farms, and tourism — illustrate that supporting local commerce is not just a choice; it's a commitment to the community.
