Jonas Software ANZ Acquires RxOne, a Cornerstone of New Zealand Pharmacy Technology Brisbane, Australia, July 30, 2025

Jonas Software, today announced it has completed the acquisition of RxOne, a long-standing and significant provider of integrated pharmacy management software in New Zealand. The acquisition expands Jonas Software ANZ's presence in the pharmacy and healthcare technology sector and reinforces its strategy of supporting mission-critical vertical market solutions across the region.

With more than three decades of history, RxOne has played a central role in shaping pharmacy IT in New Zealand and Australia, offering a comprehensive suite of solutions across dispensing, point-of-sale, retail, and professional services.

"RxOne is a cornerstone of pharmacy technology in New Zealand, and we're proud to welcome them to the Jonas family," said Jeff McKee, Group CEO of Jonas Software ANZ. "Their commitment to innovation, customer service, and deep industry expertise makes them a perfect fit to our growing portfolio. We're excited to support their future growth and continued leadership in the pharmacy space."

RxOne will continue to operate independently, with its existing team remaining in place. Customers can expect continuity and a renewed focus on long-term stability, innovation, and operational excellence.

"Our journey began with a vision to help pharmacists deliver better care through smart, reliable software," said Margie Peat, Founder of RxOne. "Joining Jonas enables us to preserve our identity and values while tapping into global resources and proven software practices. It's a great outcome for our team and the pharmacies we serve."

The acquisition signals Jonas Software ANZ's ongoing investment in healthcare and commitment to the New Zealand and Australian pharmacy sectors.
