

Doing Life Together

PRACTICING THE 4 HABITS

We all want influential relationships. The problem is that it's easy to disconnect from our relationships when life's challenges isolate and overwhelm us. But it doesn't have to be that way. God's desire for us is to do life together. So that's why we've developed four habits to help you overcome isolation to create relational influence with your family, work, and community.

Doing life together with people is our method of following Jesus' discipleship model of helping people thrive. He selected three disciples out of the 12 disciples, James, John, and Peter, to invest in and share his most intimate moments.

Following Jesus' example, we're inviting every member of the congregation to choose three people (church member, family member, and neighbor or coworker) to do life by practicing the following four habits:

- Spend Time with God in prayer or worship
- Spend Time with Others over a meal
- Share and listen to Stories of what's going on in life
- Use your Gifts to Serve a need in the congregation

Jesus did life with his disciples by practicing habits before sending them out to the world. We will practice the four habits to help people thrive and create influential relationships. Let's Do Life Together.
