The Region

The “World’s Most Famous Beach” enticed famous explorer Ponce de Leon way back in the 1500s, and for decades, Daytona Beach has welcomed motorsport speedsters and low-key sunseekers alike. From the early 20th century until 1958, car races were held on the beach. Then, in 1959, with increasing participation and crowds, car races were moved off the beach, and held at the new Daytona International Speedway, home of the most prestigious race in NASCAR, the Daytona 500. Today, Daytona Beach residents still enjoy the tradition of being able to park their cars on the beach, but the hard-packed sand is also delightful for bicycle riding, running, long walks or simply soaking up the sun.

There is more to this sunny locale than sand, sun, and speed. Indeed, woven within the fabric of the Daytona Beach area is a tapestry of arts, culture, and heritage sites. With the Ocean Center, Daytona Beach is host to many festivals, competitions, concerts, and performing arts presentations. Botanical gardens, parks, trails and wildlife preserves provide an appreciation for both the beauty and the environmental concerns of the area ... and then there are many ways to get outside to play! Here are some of the features and interesting things to see and do in and around Daytona Beach:

Enjoy the Beach!

Yes, there is something very special about Daytona Beach with its beautiful 23 miles of hard-packed, white sand. The shoreline is expansive at low tide, 500 feet wide! Whether at sunrise or mid-day, low tide or high, the beach is fabulous. Enjoy the shorebirds, hunt for sea shells, enjoy the art in the sand ... There’s nothing like the calming, refreshing effect of a walk on the beach.

The Daytona Beach Boardwalk

At first glance, the Daytona Beach Boardwalk, is combination amusement center and Mardi Gras fun center with fast food and surf shops right on the beach. Look a little closer, and there is a beautiful coquina bandshell, a fun venue for open-air concerts and community events. Along the boardwalk, take a self-guided tour by concerts and community events. Along the boardwalk, take a self-guided tour by following commemorative plaques with the history, milestones and fun facts related to racing on Daytona Beach.

Shopping!

Daytona Beach is a shopping mecca! From the boutiques and antique shops on historic Beach Street, to the department stores at local malls, to designer brand stores at the Tanger Outlets, options abound! There are the colourful specialty shops and restaurants just off the beach at the Ocean Walk, and the new, upscale showcase of shops, restaurants, and entertainment at One Daytona. The choices are endless!

Daytona International Speedway

Yes, it's possible to get an up-close, behind the scenes tour of the World Center of Racing! The Daytona International Speedway opened in 1959, born from Bill France's vision for the future of racing in Daytona Beach. In 2016, that vision was rejuvenated with a renovation making it even more accessible and comfortable for fans to experience the thrills of motorsports. Experience a track tour, and see the home of the iconic NASCAR race, The Daytona 500.

The speedway is also home to The Motorsports Hall of Fame of America and showcases spectacular displays honoring all forms of motorsports: Stock Cars, Sports Cars, Open-Wheel, Motorcycles, Drag Racing, Land Speed Records, Powerboating and Aviation, and includes classic machines from these competitive arenas.
