Hiking Details

Hiking in Yukon can be more challenging than in Ontario, with shorter distances often accompanied by steeper elevation gains. Yukonhiking.ca offers reliable assessments of local trails. Only "easy" or "moderate" rated hikes are included in the itinerary, though substitutions may occur due to weather or other conditions.

DAY 2

1. Miles Canyon along the Yukon River

(A1/Easy - 8+km/334m)

The Miles Canyon trail follows a well-worn dirt path with hills and offers stunning views of the Yukon River. The canyon was formed when the river cut through basaltic lava flows from a vent about 8 km (5 mi) south, around 8.5 million years ago. The constricted river created pools for fish, particularly salmon, which Indigenous peoples have been fishing for thousands of years. Tools found nearby date back 2,500 years, though people likely used the area for fishing and hunting 8,000 to 9,000 years ago, after the glaciers retreated.

DAY 3

2. Yukon Wildlife Preserve

(A1/Easy - 5km)

In the 1970s, Danny Nowlan began rescuing injured and orphaned wildlife at the Yukon Game Farm. Today, the Yukon Wildlife Preserve continues this legacy, caring for the region's most vulnerable animals. Since opening in 2012, the Wildlife Research and Rehabilitation Centre has helped hundreds of animals. A guided walk through the expansive grounds offers views of Arctic foxes, elk, bison, mountain goats, and eagles.

DAY 4

3. Fish Lake/Bonneville Lakes

(A2/Moderate – 7+km/323m)

Fish Lake area falls within the settlement lands of the Kwanlin Dun First Nation peoples. It begins on a well-worn trail through trees and then gradually ascends to the tree line, with a view of Fish Lake, Bonneville Lakes and Boundary Mountains.

DAY 5

4. Sam McGee Trail

(A2/Moderate – 9km/618m)

This historic trail, leading into the alpine below Montana Mountain, was originally built in 1905 to support a tramway for a silver mine. Along the trail, you'll find remnants of the tramway and mining artifacts. The summit offers stunning panoramic views of the surrounding mountains.

DAY 6

5. Kluane National Park – Auriol Trail

(A2/Moderate – 15km/367m (+430m))

The trail begins in quiet boreal forest, with spruce and aspen lining a gentle path. As you climb, the trees open into alpine meadows, which in early June are starting to bloom with wildflowers. Higher up, you'll enjoy sweeping views of the Auriol Range, with snow-dusted peaks and wide, open valleys. It's a peaceful, scenic walk through some of Yukon's most beautiful landscapes.

DAY 7

6. Option 1: Kluane National Park – Thunder Egg Creek/Lower Alsek

(A2/Moderate – 14km/215km)

Option 2: Kluane National Park – Sheep Creek

(A2/Moderate – 14km/215km)

Both these hikes provide breathtaking views of valleys and mountains. The decision on which hike to take will be made based on local trail conditions, wildlife sightings and group preference.

DAY 8

7. Kluane National Park - Dezadeash River Trail

(A1/Easy – 6km/39m)

This easy, scenic trail along the Dezadeash River Valley offers stunning views of the Auriol Range, with well-maintained boardwalks and informative interpretive signage.

DAY 9

8. Five Finger Rapids

(A2/Moderate – 1.5km)

Four islands of composite rock divide the Yukon River into five narrow channels, of which only the eastern is passable. This out-and-back trail, considered moderately challenging, provides vista views of the river.

DAY 10

9. Tombstone Territorial Park

(A2/Moderate – 8km/423m)

Tombstone Territorial Park, accessed via the Dempster Highway, is a beloved destination for Yukoners and a must-visit for many hikers. Its breathtaking subarctic tundra, dotted with resilient flora and scattered trees, offers spectacular views of valleys and towering mountains. The park's remote setting means there is no cell service. Our experienced hike leaders will guide you along this out-and-back trail, ensuring a safe and unforgettable adventure.

DAY 11

10. Dawson City Walking Tour

(A2/Moderate – 10km)

The Historic Downtown Walking Tour takes you through streets once bustling with theatres, saloons, dancehalls, and fortune-seeking miners, alongside those eager to part them from their gold.
