AUTOMATED FEFO INVENTORY SELECTION

OVERVIEW

TotalLot transforms inventory management into competitive advantage by ensuring your customers always receive the freshest products while maximizing profitability and minimizing waste. This powerful NetSuite SuiteApp enhances customer satisfaction, improves margins by reducing expired inventory losses, ensures regulatory compliance through systematic lot tracking, and minimizes waste by automatically rotating older stock first.

Using automated FEFO (First Expired, First Out) methodology, TotalLot instantly selects the inventory closest to expiring with a single click, eliminating manual processes and guesswork while delivering measurable business results across your operation.

ABOUT

Who:

Manufacturers and distributors managing lot- and serial-numbered inventory across industries, including food and beverage, nutraceuticals, pharmaceuticals, chemicals and more

What:

Part of Doozy TotalWorks, a set of complementary SuiteApps that enhance NetSuite functionality, TotalLot automates lot and serial number selection using FEFO methodology

Why:

Businesses need to drive profitability and compliance by eliminating manual selection processes, reducing expired inventory losses, and ensuring customers receive the freshest product available while maximizing operational efficiency

KEY BENEFITS

- Set multiple inventory detail subrecords with a single click, eliminating tedious manual selection and reducing errors.
- Eliminate time-consuming manual processes that slow down order fulfillment and production workflows.
- Increase profit by reducing losses from expired inventory through systematic rotation of older stock.
- Achieve greater efficiency and control over inventory management with automated FEFO enforcement.
- Maintain regulatory compliance with documented lot tracking and expiration date management.
- Improve customer satisfaction by consistently delivering the freshest products available.

KEY FEATURES

- Automated FEFO Selection: Selects lot and serial numbers based on expiration dates using FEFO methodology.
- One-Click Selection: Sets multiple inventory detail subrecords instantly with a single button click.
- Work Order Integration: Automatically selects available lot- and serial-numbered inventory before raw material issuance, with specific pick lists for production.
- Sales Order Optimization: Ensures older inventory moves first by automatically selecting specific lot and serial numbers, preventing expiration risk.
- Transfer Order Support: Utilizes the FEFO methodology as inventory is transferred between locations to meet demand.
- Manual Override Capability: Provides access to all available lot and serial numbers for review with manual override capability when needed.
- Batch Selection: Handles the selection of hundreds of lot or serial numbers in a single operation.
- Native NetSuite Integration: Integrates seamlessly with existing NetSuite workflows and transaction types.

ACCOMPLISH BETTER RESULTS WITH LESS TIME & EFFORT

Purpose-built for ease of use and accuracy, TotalLot provides the fastest possible way for users to select lot- and serial-numbered items in NetSuite while adhering to the FEFO (First Expired, First Out) methodology.

TotalLot provides users the ability to efficiently choose hundreds of lot or serial numbers based on FEFO principles. With a single click, the system displays all available lot and serial numbers for all applicable items in a transaction. Users can accept automatically selected items based on expiration date or manually override system selections as required. Once their choices are confirmed, the inventory detail subrecords are set for each selected lot-numbered item line on the transaction.
