

Travel with Peace of Mind and Protection

Passing away while traveling is the last thing you'd ever expect to happen, but unfortunately it happens. The financial and emotional burden of dealing with a death away from home can be devastating.

Most travel and health insurance plans do not offer coverage for a death that occurs away from home. When a death occurs away from home, the costs to return a deceased individual can range and even exceed $5,000 to $10,000. In addition to the cost, working with local and foreign governments can be challenging. Laws and regulations vary by state and country, and they're even further complicated by language barriers.

Thankfully, Sepio Guard Away From Home Assurance is for everyone. Whether you're taking a day trip an hour or two away from home, going on a weekend getaway, or taking that once in a lifetime trip to Europe, you will have the peace of mind knowing you and your family are always protected.

Part of the Sepio Guard experience is to help you find a local receiving funeral home. With years of experience in the funeral industry, we have established relationships with trusted funeral homes all over the country.

Forever coverage for just $449 per person.

Sepio Guard Away from Home Assurance spares your loved ones the emotional heartache and the financial burden of transporting your body back to your local funeral home.
