PROGRAM OF THE NEXT CD APPOINTMENTS SESSION - YEAR 2022

November 30 - December 4, 2022

MULTIDISCIPLINARY CONFERENCE

ROMANIA AND FAST SOCIAL CHANGE: MIGRATION AND ITS EFFECTS.
EUROPE, ITALY AND AFRICA: DIALOGUE, PERSPECTIVES AND OPPORTUNITIES.

ROMANIA: best performance of the whole EU. However, this figure hides the serious structural problems of a country where the risk of poverty affects large sections of the population. Faced with these figures, it should not be forgotten that Romania has about 4 million citizens who have gone abroad in search of better living conditions.

EUROPE, ITALY AND AFRICA: will deal with relations with Africa and the relations of African states with international institutions and organizations. The meeting will be an opportunity for all participants to have an accurate view of relations with some states of southern Africa and to explore various issues concerning our ongoing projects.

Dear Diplomatic Correspondents, Dear Friends, this year, we have chosen Romania as the location of our next meeting.
Before proceeding with the appointments, as always, we will devote our attention to issues of considerable interest.

On this occasion, the first theme of the conference will be to analyse, with the contribution of the government authorities participating in the event, all the aspects that are allowing Romania to grow much more than the European average, thanks also to a school system and excellent education.

Our invitation, therefore, is to share all the resources to create new possibilities, thanks also to Romania's accession to the European Union, dating back to 2007, which certainly contributed to strengthening skills and competences, but clearly without a farsighted action by the government, the results achieved would have remained only "good intentions".

This is why it is important to explain and make it clear, especially to those who have decided to leave Romania for a better life perspective, that things have changed and are changing. It is necessary to instil confidence in all the Romanian people so that those who have decided to leave Romania can return and contribute to making their country stronger both economically and politically.

The second and not the last theme of the conference will concern relations between Europe and Africa which have their roots in history. A centuries-old history marked by extremely asymmetrical political, cultural and economic relationships.

Nonetheless, Africa is on the march again. And this is good news that Europe must record in order to develop new tools to satisfy its "need for Africa". It might seem paradoxical but Europe needs Africa and must quickly find its place as the interlocutor of its direct neighbour for the creation of that Euro / African space very useful to both.

Finally, the conference will also be an opportunity to present to the participants a renewed Romanian tourist potential, in order to encourage the country's inclusion in the itineraries offered by the main tour operators worldwide.

After the cultural activities, in the evening and the following day, we will continue with the excursions, the Welcome Dinner, the Gran Gala evening and the conferral of the International Mediterranean Award 2022.

While waiting to meet you,
Yours, Lello M. Governor General

To find out more about these topics, we invite you to join us.

The I.O.D.R. in summary

The International Organization for Diplomatic Relations - Diplomatic Correspondents Ngo, born in 1972, it was legally constituted in 1983 in Malta, with a public act, with the purpose to promote human rights set out in the Universal Declaration of New York in 1948 and to develop economic and cultural exchange.

The Organization numbers of professionals, businessmen, politicians and cultural figures from different countries and has favoured professional and commercial exchanges conceived and planned during meetings, ceremonies and events organized in Malta and abroad.

The aim is to promote industry in the world through economic and cultural exchanges with international organizations, embassies and institutions.

Since its formation, has become a reference point for professionals and entrepreneurs wishing to expand their horizons beyond national borders, promoting the creation of joint ventures with businesses in other countries, mainly in the developing countries.

The Organization is proud to count among its member's persons of high cultural, human, scientific and professional profile identified through a process of severe selection.

Finally, I.O.D.R. obtained in 2006 the accreditation to collaborate with structures based in Brussels, at the European Parliament, to provide expert advice in EU funding in favour of European business.

The International Organization for Diplomatic Relations is also a Philanthropic Organization that fosters solidarity, welfare and social protection.

The projects planned and implemented in this sense, either through simple fund-raising campaigns or through direct interventions are numerous. I.O.D.R. wants to testify with this solidarity activity the conviction that, for the promotion of a real development of the population in developing areas, isolated acts of sustain are no longer sufficient.

Beside first necessity supports, it is necessary to activate a plan of actions to provide the affected people with opportunities and resources with which they will be able to build a stable future. It is necessary to create conditions that increase culture and above all the opportunity to work as a primary source of the dignity of any individual.

This precise ethical vision is the foundation of the identity of the Diplomatic Correspondents who as professionals and entrepreneurs encourage solidarity and provide an opportunity for others to recognize and elevate themselves towards the dignity of work.

To this end and to promote these objectives, the Organization collaborates with the Secretary of Foreign Affairs and the Foreign National Secretaries, present in almost every country, as bodies that encourage and support these processes, especially in countries where partnerships and humanitarian interventions have started long time ago.

The goal is to give the opportunity to establish contacts with the diplomatic authorities of the countries concerned, and to ensure technical and specialized assistance in order to optimize the results of economic operations.

Finally, in 2010 the IODR, has been recognized and accredited to the U.S. GOVERNMENT MASSACHUSSETTS for NGOs NP ORGANIZATIONS - PUBLIC CHARITIES in terms of general laws, CHAPTER 156D SECTION 15.03; 950 CRM 113.48, I.D. NO. 0010328.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 1

Visit to Nicolae Ceaușescu's home - Departure 10.00 am

One of the most interesting buildings in Bucharest, the Villa Ceausescu. Here, we will discover the history of the building and the fascinating life of the last Romanian dictator. The tour begins with the dictator's private office, followed by the chess room. Afterwards, walking around the villa we will admire the bedrooms, the family dining room and the relaxation room.

Going up the stairs, we will enter another bedroom that belonged to the Ceausescu couple, before moving on to the greenhouse which houses a recreated tropical climate.

This climate allows for the cultivation of exotic fruits such as bananas and pineapples, including many other fruits that are not indigenous to the country. Ceaușescu was also a big fan of exotic birds, which is why the garden was populated with peacocks. Last but not least, the indoor swimming pool, a work that took months to complete. The swimming pool is entirely decorated in blue mosaic and contains floral and animal themes reminiscent of those of ancient Rome. All this, contained in a single house that was far from the eyes of the people. It was a house where a dictator's family lived the best life, while the rest of the population starved.

At the end, return to the hotel. Lunch and free afternoon.

Evening: Traditional Romanian dinner in a typical restaurant with traditional Romanian music.

ROMANIA AND FAST SOCIAL CHANGE: MIGRATION AND ITS EFFECTS.
EUROPE, ITALY AND AFRICA: DIALOGUE, PERSPECTIVES AND OPPORTUNITIES.

At the end: appointment of 2022 Diplomatic Correspondents

The morning session will end with the appointment and delivery of the insignia, diplomas and the coveted sword to the new Diplomatic Correspondents who will arrive from different countries of the world, accompanied by the reading of their professional profiles - declaimed in Italian and in English for the foreign guests.

Their designation, preceded by strict selection criteria, stems mainly from their commitment and the solidarity proven by each, an essential characteristic of professional and entrepreneurial values. In fact, the profile of the Diplomatic Correspondent has always been characterized by a strong sense of solidarity and commitment to humanitarian initiatives.

By adhering to the ethical and entrepreneurial principles promoted by the CD Organization, we share the need for a concrete and tangible commitment to improve the standard of living, in particular, of the populations of third world countries.

This precise ethical vision is the basis of the identity of Diplomatic Correspondents who, as professionals and entrepreneurs, encourage solidarity and offer the opportunity for others to recognize themselves and elevate themselves to the dignity of work.

At the end visit of the Parliament.
