Summation

Rachel Goldsmith is a New York based artist who creates with water-based paints and with PLA bioplastic extruded through a 3D printing pen. She received her Masters of Art and Design Education Degree from Pratt Institute in 2007 and her Bachelor of Fine Arts and Bachelor of Arts Degrees from The University of Michigan in 2003. Rachel taught middle school Visual Arts in New York City from 2007-2012. In addition to winning several "Best in Show" awards, in 2014 Rachel was commissioned by the inventors of the 3Doodler 3D printing pen to create a piece for MoMA Design Store. Since then she has committed to developing techniques to use this new medium as a language in her art. Her work, including her Fabergé Big Egg and Official Cow Parade Cow, are included in various private collections, and was exhibited by Diageo at Frieze NY in May, 2019. Her most public and permanent pieces to date are two 8.5' x 40' murals floating in New York Harbor's Brooklyn Bridge Marina... her artwork is now embedded in the view of Brooklyn from Manhattan and of the Manhattan Skyline from Brooklyn.
