

Cognivue

What is it?

Cognivue is a non-diagnostic cognitive screening tool that collects over 130,000 data points while quickly and objectively assessing key areas of brain function. It's like a Doppler radar for your brain — detecting early shifts in cognitive patterns before the “storm” of decline sets in.

Why is it important?

Your brain health is too vital to leave unmeasured. Whether you're an athlete, a student, a professional, or someone concerned about cognitive decline, the sooner you see the changes the more options you have to respond. Think of Cognivue like a Fitbit for your brain. It tracks how your mind is performing — from memory to reaction time — giving you a performance snapshot you can monitor over time. At MetaLab, sharper minds lead to stronger lives, so come get a tune-up and...LET'S WIN THE DAY TOGETHER!
