British Damage Management Association event

After a busy exhibition last week, at the annual BDMA, British Damage Management Association event, in Nottingham, our Head of Dry Ice, Steven McCreadie, attended a hectic evening of networking.

It was an opportunity to connect with industry peers and discuss collaborative efforts for mutual growth.

Such gatherings foster relationships that can lead to innovative solutions in damage management!

Don't Replace It – Restore It!

Food manufacturing faces constant pressure to keep production flowing. Residue buildup can slow everything down, and replacing machinery? That's costly and disruptive!

Enter dry ice blasting! We tackled years of stubborn grime without dismantling a thing. No water, no harsh chemicals – just an efficient deep clean that gets you back on track fast. Save time and cut costs while keeping your production line humming!

Check this out for a before and after!

This transformation showcases the power of Dry Ice blasting.

Needless to say, we had one very happy client!

Dry Ice glides through the buildup, making short work of this project, saving the client downtime, manpower, and expense.

It's an efficient solution with minimal disruption!
