SOCIAL SERVICE ASSISTANCE & DISPOSITION BENEFITS

The State of New Jersey assists low income individuals in paying for final disposition arrangements through a subsidy of $3,056.

The Work First New Jersey Program (WFNJ) is funded by the State of New Jersey with a budget line item through the NJ Department of Human Services (DHS) and is distributed by the board of social services or county welfare agency in the county where the decedent legally resided at the time of their death. The board of social services permits interested parties to contribute towards the public assistance subsidy. Interested parties can supplement the subsidy with a co-pay up to a $1,570 maximum for a total, combined budget of $4,626.

The decedent's assets cannot be used to supplement their own final disposition expenses. These assets will be collected by the State of New Jersey as part of the state's asset recovery program. The decedent's assets could disqualify the decedent from subsidy eligibility. Program eligibility is subject to approval and will be determined by application to the board of social services in the county where the decedent legally resided at the time of their death. For a list of the county boards of social/human services, call the DHS at 609.588.2000.
