DEPTH: 185 FT MANTAINED BY: AWADH

MEET THE RECIPIENTS

Village Mathiya was born out of compassion and struggle. Years ago, a landowner allowed poor migrant laborer families to settle on unused land. They built huts and worked as daily laborers, but owned nothing, not even the ground beneath them, and depended on neighboring villages for water.

As the community grew, the landowner's descendants demanded the villagers buy the land or leave. Most families couldn't afford it, but by God's grace, a few stepped forward to purchase land so no one would become homeless.

One need still remained: safe water. Through prayer and the support of generous partners, a borewell was drilled. It was a day of tears and gratitude, a reminder that God had not forgotten them. Today, women no longer travel far for water, children have easy access, and neighbors gather around the well to encourage one another.

Most importantly, this well opened hearts to the gospel. The villagers saw that Christians don't just preach hope, they demonstrate it. This well is more than water, it is a testimony that God sees the forgotten and brings hope to those on the margins.

PASTOR'S TESTIMONY

Brother Ramawadh is from Ghazipur, a pastor and social leader in this community. He has witnessed the struggles of these villagers and also serves as one of our volunteers in this district. After learning about the community's challenges, Brother Ramawadh approached our Quenched office and presented their request for a borewell on their behalf.

This well has brought great joy to the community. The villagers are no longer dependent on the old, traditional open well, as this new well serves them far better. Since the villagers have responded so positively to the gospel, we believe a fellowship of believers may soon take root in the coming months.

MEET THE RECIPIENTS

We drilled and dedicated this well in front of Mr. Nagina's house, in Bhadohi block and district. He has an extended family, and the village is largely a Harijan (low-caste) community. While some families are educated and well-off, they have unfortunately adopted the same discriminatory practices as higher castes toward their neighbors. Many poor families lack basic facilities, and drinking water was one of their greatest needs. Without land or resources to drill a well, or even proper drainage afterward, daily life was difficult, especially during weddings and social events, and even harder in the rain and summer heat. Feeling helpless, they received no support from their own community.

One day, our Quenched representative learned of their situation and visited to see the reality for himself. Now they have access to clean water freely, in every season. It has been a joy to see the impact on this community. Villagers have witnessed how Christians love one another and are willing to sacrifice their own resources for others. This has opened new opportunities to share the gospel, and we are hopeful that, God willing, a church will rise in this place soon.

Thanks to our Quenched team, and glory to God.

MEET THE RECIPIENTS

For years, a small Muslim community in Majhawan Block, struggled for clean water. Most families are poor, earning a living through small businesses and daily labor, with many children to care for. Yet the village had only one old hand pump, unable to meet everyone's needs. Women and children often had to walk to neighboring villages, where they faced rejection and humiliation due to religious differences, leaving the community feeling forgotten and helpless. During a visit, our volunteer, Brother Jakariah, discovered this village and was deeply moved by the people's suffering. He saw the long queues at the old hand pump and the burden carried by mothers and children. Moved by the urgency of the need, he appealed on their behalf for a new borewell. After prayer and the generous support of donors, a well was drilled and dedicated to the community. The new well has transformed daily life. Families now have clean water near their homes, saving time and easing hardship. After years of rejection, the villagers have experienced love, dignity, and care. The well stands not only as a source of water but as a symbol of hope and friendship. We pray this relationship continues to grow, bringing greater peace and openness to God's love in the village.

PASTOR'S TESTIMONY

Brother Jakariah is a dedicated social worker and pastor who has devoted his life to serving marginalized and underprivileged communities. Known for his compassion and humility, he regularly visits remote villages to understand people's struggles and respond with practical care and love. He believes true ministry means not only sharing hope through words but also demonstrating God's love through acts of service. His concern for the suffering Muslim families in Majhawan led him to advocate tirelessly on their behalf, ultimately helping bring clean water to their village. Through his selfless service, Brother Jakariah has become a source of encouragement, dignity, and hope for many communities facing difficult circumstances.

MEET THE RECIPIENTS

I am Chameli, wife of Sambhu. My husband is a farmer, and I have six members in my family. I have lived in this village for 40 years. For many years, I used water from the canal, and later from a nearby hand pump. But because we are considered lower caste, we were not allowed to touch the wells of others. Only the rich could afford to drill their own wells, so people like me had to beg for water from higher-caste families, who were often unwilling to let us near their wells.

I always wished for a well of my own, so I could be free from this discrimination. I am so thankful to the Church for showing us love and reminding us that we, too, are human. They showed no caste distinction, they loved everyone equally. I also heard the gospel for the first time at my well dedication, and that was when I learned that Jesus is God.

Thank you so much for this well, and for showing love in such a practical way. I am so glad to now share clean water with everyone.

MEET THE CARETAKER

I am the local pastor. I had known this family for a week when I heard their story of discrimination, and it filled me with sorrow. It made me ask myself: is it God who divides people into lower and higher, or is it man? To God, we are all His creation, there is no division at all.

After receiving the well, this family now has clean water without objection or discrimination. They are proud to have it with dignity, and they are open to the gospel because they have seen that there is equality in Jesus. Please pray for this family, I believe they may soon accept Jesus, having witnessed love in action. Pray also for this community, that they may be freed from man-made rules and boundaries.

Please pray for me as well, as I continue going into such areas to share the gospel, that the Lord would send His angels to protect me from all evil. Thank you for the well.

MEET THE RECIPIENTS

I am Maya Devi, wife of Laxmi Khan. My husband is a farmer who takes whatever work he can find in the local village, and this supports our family and our children's schooling. I have six people in my family, and we have lived in this place for the last 50 years. For a long time, we used river water for drinking, cleaning, washing, and everything else. More recently, I have been using a neighbor's well, about 20 minutes from my house, making it very difficult to collect enough water for the whole household. We were always short of water.

One day, the local pastor visited us and explained his work helping the poor in our community. A few months later, he returned with a well driller and drilled this well for us. Now I have deep, fresh, and pure water. It's an automatic well that provides water 24 hours a day, so I don't even need to draw it myself. Many people have benefited, and all of us now have clean water.

Beyond that, I also had the chance to hear the gospel at my well dedication. Thank you so much for this well.

MEET THE CARETAKER

I am the local pastor. I had known this family for two weeks and saw their struggles during my visit. After a good conversation with them, I decided to drill a well for them. The well is 235 feet deep, and the water is clean and pure. It is an artesian well, meaning the water flows naturally without needing to be drawn, something all the villagers appreciate.

Because of this well, many other villagers have come to us asking for wells of their own. They have also wanted to know who Jesus is, since they had never heard of Him before, it was all very new to them. I found it easy to share the gospel through the work of drilling wells.

Please pray for this family's salvation, and pray for this community, that as they remain open to hearing the gospel, they may invite God into their lives at the right time. Please also pray for me, that I may be a good example to these people.

Thank you so much for the well, and for accepting me as a partner in this work.

MEET THE RECIPIENTS

I am Rudhali, wife of Hari Das. My husband is a farmer, and I have 10 people in my family. I have lived in this place for 25 years. Since then, I have used a neighbor's well, about a 5-minute walk from my house. But I had a bad experience using it for so long, the owner didn't like us using his well for extended periods, so I could never collect enough water for the whole day. It was frustrating to face this same problem every day.

One day, a man visited our house and shared about his work providing clean water wells to villagers. We told him about our struggles, and a month later, he returned and drilled this well for us. Now I have a clean well that provides enough water for our family, and I can use it anytime I need.

I had never heard the gospel before, but through this well, I heard it for the first time. I came to know that Jesus is also God, and that He is the one who can forgive our sins. Thank you so much for the well and for sharing the word of God with us.

MEET THE CARETAKER

I am the local pastor. I had known this family for a month before visiting them to drill this well. They told me about their struggles getting enough water from others' wells, none of the well owners were willing to provide as much water as they needed, knowing the household required more. Because of this, the family faced great difficulty collecting sufficient water for daily use.

After we provided a clean water well, they now have enough water for their household and can even share it with their neighbors. They were also privileged to hear the gospel of Jesus Christ at their well dedication, listening attentively and carefully. I gave the family a new Bible, so they might come to know the true God more deeply.

My plan for this community is to share the gospel clearly, so that any remaining doubts or misunderstandings may be removed from their hearts and minds. Thank you so much for the well project and for the opportunity to share the gospel with these people.

MEET THE RECIPIENTS

I am Puja, wife of Suk Bdr. My husband is a daily wage laborer, and I have seven people in my family. I have lived in this village for 21 years, since moving here after my house and land were destroyed by flooding. Our beginning in this village was difficult, I had nothing except the clothes I owned.

For a long time, I had to travel a great distance for water; it would take an entire day just to get a single pot. Later, a neighbor drilled a well, and I began getting water from there. But over time, the well owner grew unwilling to let us use it for long. I searched for a sponsor who could help provide a clean water well, but I couldn't find anyone.

Then a pastor visited us and explained how he was helping people like me with clean water wells. I submitted an application, and now I have this well of my own. I can use it freely, with no objection from anyone. I am also glad that they shared the gospel with us.

Thank you so much for providing this clean water well and for sharing the gospel with us.

MEET THE PASTOR

I am the local pastor. I have known this family for a week. They are known as flood victims, having lost all their property in a flood and moving here 21 years ago. Since then, they had been getting water from others' wells, but couldn't rely on any single well regularly, as the owners were unwilling to let them use it for long.

After we provided this well, they now have clean, fresh water right in their own yard, with no need to go from house to house collecting it. At the well dedication, they gathered to listen to the word of God, and I could see the smiles on their faces.

Please pray for this family, that they may come to know the Lord soon. My plan for this village is to share the gospel within this year, so pray for me too, that I may be bold enough to proclaim the good news to them. Thank you so much for the well.

I am Anjali, wife of Sundar. My husband is a daily wage laborer working at a construction site in the local village. I have nine people in my family, and I have lived in this village for the last 6 years.

Since moving here, I used water from an open public well, about a 15-minute walk away. Many people came to draw water there, so it took a long time just to fill my pot, and the water was not clean. Those who used this water often suffered from stomach problems, including my son.

One day, a man suggested we request a well from Quenched, and that's how I received this clean water well. Now I have clean water for my needs, without the long wait, and I've saved time that I once spent collecting water for other tasks.

I had never heard the gospel before this well was drilled. I really enjoyed the program organized for the well dedication. Thank you so much for the well.

MEET THE PASTOR

I am the local pastor. I had known this family for a month. On my first visit, I simply told them about Jesus Christ. A month later, I returned to drill the clean water well, which gave me more opportunities to share the gospel with them.

Our well-drilling process works like this: first, the family fills out an application; then, when the driller arrives, the pastor shares the gospel with the driller, the well owner's family, and their neighbors before drilling begins. So the gospel is shared from beginning to end. They also heard the gospel again at the dedication, and they were so happy to hear this new message they had never heard before.

I have found it easy to share the gospel with well owners, because they listen to the whole message. Please pray for this family and for the community, that they may come to know the Lord soon. Pray also that I may visit them again to continue sharing the gospel.

Thank you so much for providing clean water to this family and for making it easy for me to share the gospel.

MEET THE RECIPIENTS

I am Bina, wife of Moti Ram. My husband is a truck driver, and I have five people in my family. I have lived in this place for 20 years. I used to get water from a neighbor's well, about a 5-minute walk from my house, but this came with problems. It was hard to bring enough water for all our household needs, and there was never quite enough for bathing and cleaning. The well owner would often scold us, and I had to pay money to use his well.

All of these problems were solved once I received this well from Quenched. Now I have a well right in my own yard, with enough water for cleaning, bathing, and all our household needs—and it's free, with no payment required.

I had heard the gospel before, but during the well drilling process, I had even more opportunities to hear it. Thank you so much for providing this clean water well and for sharing the word of God with us and our neighbors at the well dedication.

MEET THE PASTOR

I am the local pastor. I had known this family for a month, but only through phone conversations until this well drilling gave me the chance to meet them in person and share the gospel directly.

Now they have a clean water well that they are completely free to use as they wish—no one will stop them or scold them anymore. This well has benefited them in two ways: they now have clean, fresh water right in their own yard, and they no longer have to endure unkind words from neighbors or well owners.

I was glad to see them gather for the well dedication, where I preached the gospel to them. They received it positively and gladly, though they were not yet ready to decide for themselves because of fear of society's judgment. Please pray that all fear and hesitation may leave their hearts. My prayer for this community is that they would learn to respect the faith of others.

Please pray for me as well, that the Lord would protect me as I work for His Kingdom. Thank you so much for the well.
