MEET THE OWNER

Well No. 984 has been installed in Kendua village in the Buarijor Block of Godda District, Jharkhand. The community, made up mostly of Santhal families living in deep poverty, had long struggled to access clean water.

Before the well, Talababu Hembram and about twenty nearby families walked five kilometers to a river each day for drinking, bathing, and washing. This caused ongoing health issues and made daily life—and even school attendance—difficult for the children.

After surveying the need, Shambhu Sah helped initiate the well project. Its installation has brought tremendous relief. Families now have clean water in their own village, improving health, hygiene, and overall quality of life. The community is deeply grateful to the Quenched Team for this life-changing gift.

The well has also brought renewed hope and deeper openness to the gospel, marking a meaningful step forward for the entire village.
