MEET THE RECIPIENTS

Village Mathiya was born out of compassion and struggle. Years ago, a landowner allowed poor migrant laborer families to settle on unused land. They built huts and worked as daily laborers, but owned nothing, not even the ground beneath them, and depended on neighboring villages for water.

As the community grew, the landowner's descendants demanded the villagers buy the land or leave. Most families couldn't afford it, but by God's grace, a few stepped forward to purchase land so no one would become homeless.

One need still remained: safe water. Through prayer and the support of generous partners, a borewell was drilled. It was a day of tears and gratitude, a reminder that God had not forgotten them. Today, women no longer travel far for water, children have easy access, and neighbors gather around the well to encourage one another.

Most importantly, this well opened hearts to the gospel. The villagers saw that Christians don't just preach hope, they demonstrate it. This well is more than water, it is a testimony that God sees the forgotten and brings hope to those on the margins.

WELL REPORT

PASTOR'S TESTIMONY

Brother Ramawadh is from Ghazipur, a pastor and social leader in this community. He has witnessed the struggles of these villagers and also serves as one of our volunteers in this district. After learning about the community's challenges, Brother Ramawadh approached our Quenched office and presented their request for a borewell on their behalf.

This well has brought great joy to the community. The villagers are no longer dependent on the old, traditional open well, as this new well serves them far better. Since the villagers have responded so positively to the gospel, we believe a fellowship of believers may soon take root in the coming months.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR PARTNERSHIP!
