Sunday Reflection

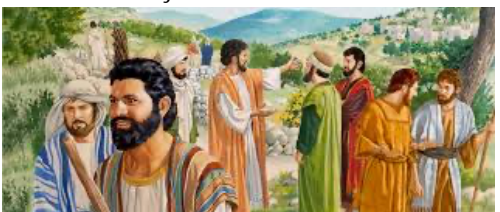

There seems to be a lot of rejoicing in today's readings. Isaiah talks about rejoicing with Jerusalem. The Gospel shows the disciples rejoicing when they came back from visiting towns to tell about the Kingdom. St. Paul is happy to be suffering for Christ. So what is the reason for such joy?

The readings make clear that it is not a result of our efforts. Isaiah writes that “the Lord's power shall be known to his servants” (Isaiah 66:14). Jesus tells his disciples not to rejoice that they cast out demons, but “because your names are written in heaven” (Luke 10:20). In other words, we are to rejoice over all the Lord has done for us, not what we have done for him.

Does that sound like false humility? No; when we do anything for others, we can honestly say that God does the real work. Knowing that frees us from expecting everyone to be happy, everything we do for others to be successful. Instead of being discouraged when we seem to fail, we can trust that God's plan is working in ways we just can't see.

St. Paul has a similar theme in the second reading. You would think he would be proud of all the converts he made, or the people he cured.

He boasts only about his suffering because that is how he is most like Jesus. He sees all of his accomplishments as the work of God. All three readings remind us that what changes our lives and changes the world is not how hard we work, or how holy we are; what really makes the difference is how much God loves us. That is the real reason to rejoice.

Parece que hay mucho regocijo en las lecturas de hoy. Isaías habla de regocijarse con Jerusalén. El Evangelio muestra a los discípulos regocijándose cuando regresaban de visitar pueblos para hablarles sobre el Reino. San Pablo está feliz de estar sufriendo por Cristo. Entonces, ¿cuál es la razón de tanta alegría? Las lecturas dejan claro que no es el resultado de nuestros esfuerzos. Isaías escribe que “Y los siervos del Señor conocerán su poder” (Isaías 66,14).

Jesús les dice a sus discípulos que no se alegren por expulsar demonios, sino “de que sus nombres están escritos en el cielo” (Lucas 10,20).

En otras palabras, debemos regocijarnos por todo lo que el Señor ha hecho por nosotros, no por lo que hemos hecho por él. ¿Suenan eso a la humildad falsa? No. Cuando hacemos algo por los demás, podemos decir honestamente que Dios hace el verdadero trabajo. Saber eso nos libera de esperar que todos sean felices, de que todo lo que hagamos por los demás tenga éxito. En lugar de desanimarnos cuando parece que fracasamos, podemos confiar en que el plan de Dios está funcionando de maneras que no podemos ver.

San Pablo tiene un tema semejante en la segunda lectura. Uno pensaría que estaría orgulloso de todas las conversiones que ha hecho o de las personas que ha curado. Presume sólo de su sufrimiento porque así es como más se parece a Jesús. Ve todos sus logros como obra de Dios. Las tres lecturas nos recuerdan que lo que cambia nuestras vidas y cambia el mundo no es cuánto nos esforzamos o cuán santos seamos; lo que realmente marca la diferencia es cuánto nos ama Dios. Esa es la verdadera razón para regocijarnos.
