Gilda has been abandoned by her parents, but fortunately, she has been discovered in the Cacace Bros. Robot Dump...and has been raised by the robots who discovered her. She was lucky to be found in the Rainbow Sector by robots that cared for her. However, she has also been shielded from the outside world, other humans, and from a dangerous section of their robot world called the Dark Cage, where the most hostile of robots live. Word has spread about her ability to fix robots, though, and one vicious robot from the Dark Cage wants her to repair all of the violent robots that live there...and nothing will stop him.

Artist Stefano Cardoselli (Don't Spit In The Wind, Long Cold Winter) and writer Francesca Perillo (Long Cold Winter) reunite once again in this exciting prequel to their hit story Love Me: A Romance Story.

The extraordinary life of the woman who created one of fiction's most enduring characters: Frankenstein's monster.

Born at the turn of the 19th century to the famous philosopher Mary Wollstonecraft (forerunner of the feminist movement) and William Godwin (novelist and radical politician), Mary Shelley lived a life in constant flight from social conformity. Her struggle birthed a pop culture phenomenon. Now in print for the first time in English, Mary Shelley: The Eternal Dream chronicles Shelley's relationships with other important artists and writers, including her eventual husband Percy Shelley, and the "butterfly effect" of love, hardship, tragedy, and inspiration that led to the creation of the infamous monster.

SIX EXTRAORDINARY JOURNEYS... INTO THE UNKNOWN!

From the minds of Eisner Award-winning writer Mark Russell and artist Ryan Alexander-Tanner, Vanishing Point is where sci-fi meets existential dread. These short stories don't end with a twist—they begin there. Each revelation cracks open something deeper, asking the questions we try not to face... what does it mean to be alive? In Screams, a seasoned mining ship captain embarks on a ten-year solo mission to space where he makes a horrifying discovery. The Tomorrow Family is a dark reimagining of the cartoon family of tomorrow, living in a future that might have been. In Cell Structure, a floating research station performs horrifying experiments on alien prisoners to discover the common elements all living things. In Proof of Life, a robot is put on trial for the ultimate offense of being alive. In Grave Remedies, a futuristic health clinic keeps patients alive against their will. But why? And in The Mission, a genocidal visitor arrives on Earth with a mission of mass extermination and a secret that could change everything. This volume collects all six issues of the critically-acclaimed series.

Pinupocalypse is a mix of 50's sci-fi and horror tropes reimagined with a clever twist. Set in 1950's small town America, this satirical adventure pits two stylish pin-up girls against hordes of zombies and aliens. Inspired by Hollywood filmmakers like Ed Wood, Sam Raimi and Edgar Wright, Pinupocalypse is an out-of-this-world story with a Gil Elvgren aesthetic to titillate readers! It's Foxy's birthday, and with money in her pocket, she's on a mission to find the perfect dress! That is until an explosion rocks the small town of Pinupolis and startles her out of the dressing room. Surrounded by suspicious green smoke, Foxy emerges to find that everyone else in town has turned into zombies!

WRITERS: ENKI BILAL, MICHAEL CONRAD, LEAH MOORE, JOHN REPPION, SERGIO GERASI, CHARLEY PARLAPANIDES, VLAS PARLAPANIDES, JOHN STANISCI, MARK MCCANN, HOMERO RIOS, FLOPS

ARTISTS: ENKI BILAL, ILIAS KYRIAZIS, ANNA MOROZOVA, SERGIO GERASI, MARCO FAILLA, JOHN STANISCI, LUIS GUARAGNA, FLOPS, MICHAL SUCHANEK

As winter settles in and the new year begins, HEAVY METAL #4 delivers a landmark issue filled with climactic finales and daring new visions.

Enki Bilal concludes the first major arc of his acclaimed BUG saga, where politics, technology, and surrealism collide in unforgettable ways. Michael Conrad and Ilias Kyriazis bring Millstone to the close of its opening arc, weaving myth and destiny into a fateful conclusion. Sergio Gerasi's reimagining of Valentina reaches its dreamlike finale, and Leah Moore, John Reppion, and Anna Morozova conclude the first chapter of Taarna, cementing her place as the eternal cosmic warrior.

The magazine also continues its bold ongoing series, as Charley and Vlas Parlapánides with Marco Failla push Ink into darker territory and John Stanisci returns with a fierce new installment of Gladiatrix, where honor and brutality collide in the arena.

Adding to this landmark lineup are three speculative shorts that venture into unsettling visions of the near future, stories where technology, identity, and control blur into haunting reflections of our own world. Baby Trigger by Mark McCann and Luis Guaragna, Sub Body by Homero Ríos, and Face Value by Flops each deliver a provocative glimpse into futures just around the corner.

HEAVY METAL #4 stands as a milestone, an essential edition where defining arcs reach their climax, ongoing sagas intensify, and new visions chart the shadows of tomorrow.

Series Description:

In 1930s Veracruz Mexico, along the Gulf Coast, lie Olmec ruins, all but hidden to anyone from the outside world. Locals make money guiding academics and scholars through the region. But there is one name that is spoken in hushed tones, one name guides stay away from, they call him "El Excavador".

The Boy doesn't listen to whispers, he hasn't seen that no one returns from guiding The American in the hat. No, The Boy doesn't know the man with the eyes of the devil. But, The Boy knows he needs money for his sick grandma, and The Boy knows The American has money, and The Boy KNOWS where the ruins are.

What begins as guide and treasure hunter, turns into cat and mouse.

The penultimate issue of this year's hottest action horror arrives! Infiltrating the Dweller stronghold, the SAVAGER is captured, broken, and nearly consumed by his enemies, and the alien force inside him while Kaia races against time to save what's left of her family.

New monsters rise. Old betrayals surface. And beneath it all, the truth about Savager's alien bond and its violent origin threatens to rip everything apart. In a bloody storm of rocket fire, tentacles, monsters and post-human vengeance, only one question remains: Can a half-man, half-monster become more than a weapon... or will he finally lose what's left of his soul?

A Killer Stalks the Mob. Hollywood Hides the Truth.

Steeped in noir tradition—corruption, blood, and betrayal wrapped in the glamour of a city built on make-believe.

Los Angeles, 1924. The city is a powder keg. One side of town is draped in velvet and spotlight. The other bleeds. When a powerful crime boss’s family is targeted by a mysterious killer, he hires two private detectives—outsiders with nothing to lose—to track the killer down before an all-out mob war erupts.

Their investigation leads them from smoke-filled jazz clubs to Hollywood studio lots, pulling back the curtain on the city’s darkest secrets.
