A LIFETIME OF FAILURE. AN ANCIENT EVIL. ONE LAST FIGHT.

Mitchell "Mad Dog" Morgan had one dream: make it to the big leagues of wrestling. He didn't. Now, broken and out of options, he's headed to an abandoned house on the edge of town to drink himself to death. But the house has been waiting for him. A century-old evil that lures in the lost and transforms them into monsters — and it has something planned for Morgan that is far worse than death. His failures brought him here. His destiny demands he fight his way out.

CHRISTOPHER SEBELA & TANGO REMAKE A CRIME FICTION LEGEND!

War hero. Star athlete. Brilliant scientist. Savvy private investigator. Rip Kirby's reputation is long-secured, and these days he's enjoying the post-war boom of New York City. With gorgeous and quick-witted Honey Dorian at his side and reformed criminal valet Desmond running the show, it's a perfect life, and perfectly balanced. It's been perfect for what seems like forever... But Rip's world is about to get complicated, and his unflappably decent ways newly tested. Up against a world that seems to be growing too fast, can an upstanding man of morals and fair play like Rip remain himself or, he will be swallowed up by the ugliness?

In 1946, co-creators Alex Raymond and Ward Greene introduced a new, sophisticated kind of detective, and left an indelible mark on newspaper strips and crime fiction. Now, two-time Eisner-nominated writer Christopher Sebela (High Crimes, Dead Letters) and rising star artist Tango (Mighty Morphin Power Rangers, Archie Horror) bring Rip Kirby to a contemporary audience with a mystery series as charming as it is thrilling.

COLORIST: K.J. DÍAZ
LETTERER: SCOTT CHANTLER
COVER ARTIST: SCOTT CHANTLER

In a world where Flash Gordon never flew to space to stop him, Ming the Merciless rules over a conquered and devastated Earth. There, a nameless laborer looks to the sky and dreams of the hero he might have been.

On Mongo, the Emperor's tormented bride, Dale Arden, cannot shake the memory of a man she saw briefly on an airplane years ago, and thoughts of what might have been. Who was he? And why does it feel like they were meant to have met?

Acclaimed cartoonist Scott Chantler presents a two-part Flash Gordon epic that pays tribute to Alex Raymond's 1930s sci-fi/fantasy adventure classic, while also providing a thoughtful and thrilling reinvention.

Reality is breaking—and everyone's online.

Terrorbytes returns with a bold new arc of standalone, genre-spanning horror and science fiction stories exploring the darkest consequences of modern technology, unchecked power, and the stories we tell ourselves to survive the future. From immersive alien simulations that trap their users between life and death, to personalized digital realities that rewrite truth, memory, and morality, each issue delivers a complete nightmare with a sharp human core.

This arc pushes Terrorbytes further into high-concept, thought-provoking terror—where social media, AI, surveillance, and virtual worlds become tools of obsession, control, and existential dread. Every chapter is accessible on its own, yet together they form a chilling mosaic of a world sliding sideways into something unrecognizable.

Smart, unsettling, and visually ambitious, Terrorbytes is horror for the algorithm age—where the scariest monsters aren't hiding in the dark, but staring back at us from the screen.

One series. Infinite nightmares.

One on a quest for vengeance, the other on a quest for love! Their destinies intertwine in Fantasy—a graphic novel with two perspectives, and two stories.

For Alma, it's the big day: Chosen by the kingdom for the ritual of the bleeding of the gods, the crown princess will journey to the lands of the gods to slay one, and thus avenge an affront to humanity 500 years old.

For Yourcenar, it's the big day: The Oracle finally predicted that she will encounter her beloved. But the young giantess soon realizes that her beloved is human...and thus begins a wait that will last one thousand years.

What happens when these two worlds collide? Read Fantasy and find out—with each perspective starting on opposite sides of the book and meeting in the middle!

A month ago, Gabby Graciana and her family left Durham, North Carolina to return back to their lives in Miami, Florida. For Gabby, that meant leaving behind her girlfriend Neesha Sparks. But they swore to keep up the tradition that brought them together—their manga book club.

But not every manga can be the right one at the right time, and they find themselves flailing for a next book. They discover that their favorite mangaka is working with a studio to produce an anime of one of her other stories, so book club chats become anime watch parties. But that's not the only thing in their lives that is changing.

An ex from Gabby's past returns to her life in an unexpected way as Neesha, finally comfortable in her North Carolina town, rediscovers her passion for activism—and a new group of activist friends that she might have more in common with than her now long-distance girlfriend.
