RUTH FLEURY

OFFICIAL BIO

Ruth Fleury is an accomplished author, entrepreneur, and speaker. She is the founder and CEO of Scholars of Tomorrow Publishing, a women-led consulting firm and publishing house dedicated to empowering self-published authors with comprehensive support, from manuscript development to distribution and promotion. She is the author of HYPER KID, SO THEY SAY!, Moving Rio Coloring Book, Self-Love with Positivity, and Soup Jourmou Freedom Celebration.

With over 15 years of experience in education, Ruth is widely recognized for her commitment to early childhood literacy and her advocacy for diversity and inclusion in storytelling. Since 2020, she has worked as an Early Childhood Consultant, collaborating with educators to improve teaching practices and support diverse learning styles.

Ruth also served as Early Childhood Director at Scholars of Tomorrow Brooklyn Preschool, where she specialized in teacher mentoring, curriculum development, and early childhood education.

Ruth holds a Master's degree in Educational Leadership and Administration from Brooklyn College and a Master of Education (M.Ed.) in Counselor Education/School Counseling from Alfred University. She is also a seasoned freelance writer for Crown Heights Community News and a passionate advocate for equity in education.

A proud mother of five, Ruth finds endless inspiration in her children, who have embraced the art of storytelling alongside her. She remains dedicated to shaping the future of early childhood learning and believes that every child deserves the opportunity to dream, explore, and thrive.
