A bit of 'blue-sky' thinking— that's what we all need now....

Well, I've managed to renew my passport (How's that for optimism?) and the new, blue British edition arrived very quickly. Now, all I have to do is decide when, where and how I take a break!

Lots of people have been booking holidays already, apparently, but I think I'll wait a little longer just to see how the 'big plan' goes and, in the meantime, start trying to shift all those extra 'lockdown' lbs that seem to have settled round the waist!

Renaissance!

Renewing and revitalising the arts and all our activities after a 'winter of discontent' (well, it's a whole year actually!) isn't going to be easy, but Spring is in the air and we have a few weeks to make, or revise, plans and think of ways to reclaim our membership and, maybe, attract new supporters and audiences.

This time last year, BArts' new programme for April to August was about to be launched. Subsequently, 2,500 copies were thrown away, but the planned events were consigned to the 'twilight zone'.

So, now looking forward to what was planned for 2020, but abandoned, BArts has 5 titles in the Let's Do Lunch series :-

Say It With Music, Debunking History, Movers and Shakers, National Treasures and Rainbow Rebel.....

a couple of Behind the Scenes backstage tours with afternoon tea, to complement Hoddesdon Players' production of 'Life of Riley' and Broxbourne Theatre Company's 'The Sound of Music'.....

an open -air production of Henry V ...

The Chingford Morris Men, as part of Hoddesdon's VE Day Celebrations...

and the performing arts groups had

'Avenue Q' by EHOS, 'All Too Familiar' by Cheshunt Dramatic, and 'Bedside Manners' by Vallé Academy, ..

plus, of course, the Hoddesdon Music Club concerts and usual wide choice of talks and discussions via the three u3a branches.

All we need now are some DATES!!!

Of course, the problem isn't closing down a theatre company. The true difficulties arise when you have to get them up and running again:

The rivalries, the jealousies, the cliques, the power plays, the on going resentments, the personality clashes, the mind games...

Theatres playing to 25% capacity. Can you imagine that?
No, I really can't.

Most I ever played to was 5%, tops.
Me too.

Renaissance??

After almost a year spent in prison,
We may soon all be out on parole.
We've managed to prove 'good behaviour',
But, perhaps, at the cost of our 'soul'?

So much that we love's been suspended
Winter days saw us all hibernate
And that vital life-force that's within us
Sadly, has been obliged to stagnate.

Community spirit is flagging,
Clubs and groups on the new 'danger' list
But we may not know what is of value
Until it disappears and is missed.

Perhaps now is a good time to 'take stock'
Maybe re-think some old-fashioned ways,
Re-jig and refresh— a Renaissance—
In the spirit of early Spring days.

Is your group in need of a face-lift?
Is your website now showing its age
When 'no news' doesn't signify 'good' news
And you've left just an out-of-date page?!

And Instagram, Facebook and Twitter,
Social sites just for info and chat,
But if your site still says 'Happy Christmas'
You won't make good impressions with that!!

The u3as are planning a re-launch,
Note, the logo is now lower case, (Ed. Hmm!)
The aim is a nation-wide campaign
To make them better-known— watch this space!

Lowewood Museum's plans are on target,
And the new volunteers list has grown,
BArts has some new lunch-time 'Buffets'
Love Hoddesdon's a go-ahead zone.

But un-renewed annual subscriptions
Mean we all have to act pretty fast.
The 'pros' have set an example
We can't afford to live in the past.

SHOW BUSINESS
