Delaware Valley Financial Influencer Matt Topley Launches Wealth Advisory Firm

Lansing Street Advisors to be headed by veteran chief investment officer, Matthew Topley. Firm combines decades of investment, personal finance and life strategy advice for clients.

AMBLER, PA—October 7th, 2020 – Lansing Street Advisors announced today the opening of a comprehensive fiduciary family office and wealth advisory firm serving successful aera families, business owners, executives and retirees.

"We work with clients throughout the Northeast and mid-Atlantic regions to bring order to their family's financial lives," explained Matt Topley, Lansing Street's Founder & President. "This frees them up to concentrate on family, health, travel and goals. Using traditional and forward-thinking approaches to investments, wealth enhancement, wealth transfer and wealth protection, Lansing Street Advisors takes a full-service approach to accumulate, preserve and distribute family financial resources," he added.

"It has been my dream to create a firm that's small enough to provide extremely attentive service to our clients, but large enough to offer a full suite of wealth enhancement, wealth transfer, wealth protection, investment consulting and lifestyle management services. After a quarter of a century in the financial services industry, that day is finally here."

Prior to founding Lansing, Matt served as partner and chief investment officer at Fortis Wealth, a family office that serves ultra-high net worth entrepreneurs. Earlier, as a partner at Turner Investments, Inc. he dramatically expanded the capitalization of one of the busiest mutual fund trading desks in the United States.

"Some people call me a thought influencer, but I have learned more from my clients over the years than I have probably taught them. As I keep reminding our team, our most valuable learning comes from serving clients and strategic partners who have extremely high standards."

In addition to overseeing day-to-day operations of Lansing Street Advisors, Matt writes the daily View from the Top blog, an industry research newsletter covering market trends and technical analysis. A Philadelphia Inquirer "Influencer in Finance," Topley is the author of the forthcoming book: "Top 10 Money & Life Considerations for Millennials," and frequently appears in The Philadelphia Inquirer, US News & World Report, Advisor News, The Street.com and other national media outlets. A frequent speaker at professional advisor conferences, he has appeared on Wharton Business Radio and the Engage with Andy Bush podcast. He is chairman and investment committee chair for BLOCS an organization serving underprivileged students in Philadelphia area and a board member and investment chair for Holy Family University.

"As a fiduciary, our community-centered values and 'family office' approach means we give every client the same exact service. Our goal is to bring lasting stability to families' financial lives so they can concentrate on family, health, travel and professional goals."
