Healthy Living Tips for APRIL

APRIL is the perfect time to refocus on wellness and establish healthy habits that carry you through the rest of the year. Even small changes can make a big difference in your overall well-being.

1. Stay Active Indoors

Cold weather can make outdoor exercise challenging, but there are plenty of ways to stay active indoors. Try stretching, yoga, home workout videos, or even a brisk walk through indoor common areas (where permitted). Aim for at least 30 minutes of movement most days of the week.

2. Nourish Your Body

Focus on balanced meals that include fruits, vegetables, whole grains, and lean proteins. Seasonal produce and warm, home-cooked meals can be both comforting and nutritious during the winter months.

3. Prioritize Heart Health

February is often recognized as heart health month. Consider simple steps like reducing sodium intake, drinking plenty of water, managing stress, and scheduling routine health check-ups.

4. Support Mental Wellness

Shorter days can sometimes impact mood. Stay connected with neighbors, practice gratitude, get enough rest, and seek natural light whenever possible to help maintain a positive mindset.
