Carpet and Rugs

Throughout the year, you and your family can track in an enormous amount of dirt and germs on the bottom of your shoes. Deep cleaning your carpets and rugs by vacuuming away dirt and shampooing them can help eliminate the grime and germs that accumulate on carpeted floors, especially if you have a high-traffic home.

Dishwasher

Although your dishwasher is a place where you regularly clean dishes, it still could harbor germs, food particles, and other items that could make your dishwasher less effective. Take this time to clean your dishwasher's interior. One of the most important tasks is to clear clogs from the filter and then gently scrub and rinse it. This will help keep the dishwasher running smoothly and smelling fresh.

Refrigerator

We use our fridges daily, so it's easy to forget that they can become filled with food and beverage spills. Clear out the contents (tossing anything that's expired) and wipe down the interior, door, and gasket with hot, soapy water mixed with a tablespoon of baking soda. Not only will this keep your food safe, but cleaning can also improve the efficiency of your refrigerator.
