

WHAT can Energy Share funds pay?

The organization focuses on helping with energy-related needs. When other sources of assistance have been exhausted, Energy Share may help individuals pay their natural gas, electric or propane bills. A one-time expenditure of up to $500 per household can be made to provide assistance.

WHO qualifies?

Energy Share funds are to be used for people in emergency need with no other obvious resources.

First priority goes to individuals and families with annual incomes at or below the amounts reflected in the chart shown on the back panel and who are residents of Wyoming.

Special consideration is given to senior citizens and the disabled. The Salvation Army and other designated 'help' organizations determine assistance qualification based on need, lack of other resources and the amount of available Energy Share funds.

The designated organizations may help applicants find assistance from existing programs before using Energy Share Funds. Cooperation with existing programs, both governmental and charitable efforts is also a primary goal of Energy Share.

WHAT is Energy Share?

Energy Share of Wyoming is a private, non-profit organization established to help people in hardship circumstances with energy-related assistance needs. We provide a helping hand when no other resources are available and when these problems are caused by circumstances beyond their control.

WHO sponsors it?

Energy Share of Wyoming is a partnership of numerous concerned individuals and organizations in the state representing senior citizens, churches, utilities, disabled-service groups and human-service applicants. It is administered by a Board of Directors representing various organizations. The Board approves allowable uses of monies it receives, establishes eligibility guidelines and oversees periodic audits of Energy Share expenditures.

HOW can deserving people apply?

The Salvation Army and designated community resource centers are the local representatives for Energy Share. These partners are responsible for assessing need and determining eligibility for Energy Share assistance.

For locations please see listing on the opposite page or visit the Energy Share website.

Applications can be made from December 1, 2025, through April 30, 2026.
