

Supplies for Cubicle Collective with Binding Hack

ByAnnie Cubicle Collective pattern (ADT has quite a few though they sell out quickly, don't wait until the day of the class)

Look at the pattern for the amount of fabric for the size of the cubicle you are making. I recommend making a M or L for your first one. The smaller ones are a little more difficult. You will need fabric for the main fabric, the lining and the coordinating fabric.

Soft and Stable, enough for the size of the cubicle you are making (refer to the pattern for information. Regular batting will not have sufficient support to allow the cubicle to stand up properly)

A #4.5 or #5 zipper. Regular dress zippers are #3 and they do not work well for ByAnnie bags.

Thread coordinating with your material and bobbins to match. You might need different colors if your fabric is different colors. Particularly, you need a bobbin which is the color of your zipper AND a thread the color of your outside fabric. They

A ByAnnie Stiletto (Not mandatory but a BIG help. There are some at the store)

ByAnnie Snaps (you need 3, 1 for the cubicle and 2 for the smaller side packets)

Wonder Clips (you can use pins but they are sometimes more difficult to use with this pattern)

1/4" foot for your machine. (You do not need a zipper foot).

A machine and all the usual sewing equipment you bring to classes (including rulers, rotary cutter and marking pen/pencil able to be seen on your fabric).

VERY IMPORTANT**

Please have the material for the size Cubicle you are making cut out and quilted with the soft and stable prior to coming to class. For instance, if you are making an M cubicle, you should bring to class an 18" x 19" quilted sandwich. You should also cut out the other required pieces for your size cubicle, as well as the bias binding using ByAnnie's method. Additionally, you will need 2 binding pieces (not on the bias) 2.25" x 17" (size M) or 2.25" x 20" (size L). We will go over marking and cutting your quilt sandwich to the size needed for your cubicle; however we will not have enough time to quilt your sandwich in class.

The measurements above apply to a rectangle cubicle. If you are making a square cubicle, please refer to the pattern for sizes or email me at sschrader01@cox.net
